Lancaster 4-H'ers score impressively at Penn State

LANCASTER — Lancaster County 4-H'ers scored impressive wins during statewide competition held at Penn State this week. It was the annual State 4-H Achievement Days, an event for which every youngster enrolled in the 4-H program strives for.

The Garden Spot's most successful teams included the dairy, poultry, horticulture, and horse bowl groups. All scored first place victories. Top placing individuals were Anita Augsburger among the poultry judges, Cindy Risser in horticulture, Shirley Nolt in flowers, and Virginia Smith in entomology.

Impressive results were also turned by Doug Hershberger and John Frey, who placed second and third, respectively in the dairy judging contest. It is the largest of all contests held

Lebanon Fair blossomed

By KENDACE BORRY and DIETER KRIEG

LEBANON — The Lebanon Fair gained significantly in strength and popularity this year as was evidenced by a brand new enclosed multi-purpose building, the addition of an extra tent to house livestock, and attendance figures which exceeded 5000 per day. Adams County boy captures national title

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Writer

GETTYSBURG – Russell Redding, Gettysburg R3, has brought to Pennsylvania the highest honor in farmer cooperative circles. The 18-year-old Adams County youth was named "Mr. AIC" in competition at the annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation at Bozeman, Montana, home of the University of Montana. Redding is the first Pennsylvanian to receive the title and was selected from nearly 600 eligible youth attending the AIC conference last week.

Redding, an outstanding member of the Battlefield Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, said the honor "has already changed my life." Along with the title goes one year of obligations and opportunity to speak on behalf of farmer cooperatives and to participate on AIC's Board of Trustees. Redding said, "It will be a challenging year, and a rewarding one as well.

A 1978 graduate of Gettysburg High School, Redding will begin his freshman year at the Mont Alto Campus of Penn State this Fall. He will major in agricultural education and said, "What I really want to do is teach vo-ag. I enjoyed FFA and the school programs." He added, however, that his selection as "Mr. AIC" has opened up "hundreds of job opportunities," and he says just a bit wistfully, "I wish I were already finished with

From chick to cage, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

Do you have an open mind?

Are you ready to devote an hour or two of your time planning for a more profitable future?

If your answer to both questions is yes, you owe it to yourself to read what we have to say.

Unlike many other feed companies, we develop custom feeding programs for each individual operation.

It all starts with a Pennfield man reviewing your operation with you. Your goals. Your records. The health and overall condition of your birds. Whether you grow chicks or buy started pullets. The type of equipment you use. The production potential of your flock. Your management practices. And other factors that have an effect on your profit potential.

With the aid of computers, we then design a feeding program specifically tailored to your birds needs—a program that can improve your profits by reducing expenses, increasing production, or both.

For example, when we recommended producers switch from a competitive 18% protein feed to an optimum-nutrient density Pennfield feed, there was no loss in production—and this one recommendation has saved as much as $12,000 a year depending on flock size.

There is no cost—or obligation—for this unique service. But you must take the first step by writing or phoning us. Do it today.

TO FERTILIZE STRAWBERRIES

That new strawberry patch should be pushing runner plants by the dozen this time of the summer. It is advised to apply another shot of fertilizer to these new planting during August. A fertilizer of nitrogen only, or one high in nitrogen, is suggested.

The objective is to encourage more runner plants and to develop strong runner plants; these will help increase the yield next summer. Also, weeds must be controlled at all times in order to have healthy strawberry plants. The earlier in the summer we can get the runner plants to take root, the better they will get established and yield next year.

TO RENOVATE OLD PASTURES

Late August and early September are good times to establish a new pasture, or to renovate an old one. In fact, this would be the very best time of the year to make any pasture or lawn seeding. The old sod should be destroyed by cultivation or by a herbicide. After the soil has been treated with lime and fertilizer according to a complete soil test, it can be seeded and should produce good grazing for next Summer.

The advantage of a fall seeding is to permit time for the new plants to get established before the 1979 hot weather arrives. The cooler and moist fall months of this year should give the plants a good start. The 1978 Agronomy Guide should give seeding suggestions.

TO SOAK NEW TREES AND SHRUBS

One of the most important things to be done the first summer of a new tree of shrub planting is to keep the soil in the root zone moist. Most of our rains do not soak deep enough to get the job done.

Therefore, every week to 10 days the water hose should be used to give the root zone of the plant a good soaking; this may take up to an hour of slow watering in order to penetrate into the root zone. If this is done the first year, then the plant should not need additional watering in later years. The lack of moisture will cause the leaves to dry up and die and the entire plant will gradually die. Don't count on normal rainfall to supply sufficient moisture around the root zone.

TO REALIZE THE VALUE OF A GOOD SIRE

Whether it be cattle, sheep, or hogs, the value of a good sire should be recognized at all times. The right kind of a sire will improve the herd or flock in the future, and produce animals meeting current market demands. Performance Testing is often done with bulls, boars, and rams. This kind of a background should give some indication of the value of the animal as a sire.

Don't try to buy the cheapest sire that is available. This "penny pinching" when buying a sire usually means poor transmitting ability and disappointing offspring. The sire can be at least 50 per cent responsible for the future of the herd or flock. Buy the best and go forward.

DIVINE MADNESS

Lesson for August 13, 1978

Background Scripture:
Acts 26
Devotional Reading:
2 Timothy 2:8-13.

Festus, the Roman governor, called it "madness." Paul the Apostle for Jesus Christ called it "the sober truth". You must decide for yourselves which man was correct.

The result of the uproar in Jerusalem and Paul's arrest there is a familiar series of legal delays and confusion. Paul is a prisoner whom no one seems to want in his jail. In Acts 26 we see him appearing before both King Agrippa, the Jewish puppet ruler, and Festus, the representative of Rome. The purpose of the hearing is probably to decide whose prisoner he is going to be.

Not Disobedient

Paul is glad to appear before Agrippa because, although the king was hardly a good, law-keeping Jew, he had considerable knowledge of orthodox Jewish background. Thus, reasoned Paul, he would be more likely to understand the gospel than the Romans who didn't understand the Jewish faith and the Messianic hope.

Simply, but comprehensively, Paul tells his story, particularly speaking about the great vision he experienced on the road to Damascus. He is quite specific about this experience because it changed the whole course of his life. Surely, Agrippa could understand the importance of visions if Festus, the Roman, didn't!

Furthermore, Paul states that the vision dominated his life from that moment onwards. "Wherefore, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision..." (26:20). That statement might very well be the epitaph for his life and ministry: He was not disobedient to the vision! It is what drove him through riots, shipwreck, imprisonment, stoning, beating, etc. His whole life from that point onward was governed by his vison of Christ on the Damascus Road.

Such As I Am

If Festus – and perhaps Agrippa – found that hard to understand, they were even more astounded when Paul finished by saying he wished that the king and the governor "would become such as I am – except for these chains." Was the man crazy to suggest that these two men of wealth, power and culture would be better off if they were to become like him? Did this crazy man think that with a few works he could convert them to his Christ? No wonder Festus exclaimed: "Paul you are mad; your great learning is turning you mad."

In calling Paul "Mad", Festus was really saying: Because I don't understand you, you must be crazy, no me. It is still very much the same today, isn't it? We assume that if we don't understand, it must be the other guy who is mixed-up.

Yes, Paul's words did seem quite absurd, if not mad, but today we realize that it is only because of Paul that we even know of Agrippa and Festus. His vision and his obedience to it have stood the test of time.

His divine madness has proven to be the world's only sanity.

The 4-H Embryology Program, initiated by Schwartz, was designed to acquaint youth in the elementary grades with the beginning of life through the incubation of fertilized eggs. Area schools cooperated with the program and classroom teachers who served as project supervisors Over 750 students participated in the first year's program. This year 21 classroom teachers served as 4-H leaders for the 900 students enrolled in the embryology project that was conducted in five public schools and three parochial schools. Students who have taken the project report that it is the greatest educational experience they have had in five years of school. The first year's program resulted in more than 150 youth enrolling as full-time 4-H members in the Adams County 4-H Program.

Agent Schwartz is a native Pennsylvanian who spent his childhood years on a 100 acre dairy farm near Gettysburg. As a youth he was an active 4-H and FFA member. 1 OUT OF 3 DAIRYMEN ARE WORMING THEIR HEALTHY-LOOKING COWS. SOON IT'LL BE 1 OUT OF 2.

HERE'S WHY.

More and more profit-minded dairymen are convinced their healthy-looking, high-producing herds are infected by worms. Even in cold northern states.

They're convinced that worms can slow growth of young stock and delay maturity of heifers.

They're convinced worms cut milk production in their milkers.

What makes them think so?

Large-scale trials, demonstrations, and experiments in Wisconsin and elsewhere have shown how widespread and damaging worms really are. The figures are convincing. (Data on request.)

More dairymen are worming because they are learning about worms: how they reproduce and do damage, and how worm control with TBZ®, the Pre-Freshening Cattle Wormer, can help pay off.

Knowing is believing

Once the facts are known, it isn't hard to believe that 9 out of 10 herds have worms. Or, why milk losses can be high. Or, why a worm-control program can pay for itself many times over.

Get the facts

Get the facts for yourself. Send for this 16-page, easy-to-read, illustrated booklet on worming of dairy herds. It's free, it's helpful, and it may give you some of the most important management information you'll get this year. Why not sit down and send for it now.

Omaha Cattle

August 10, 1978

Cattle - compared with previous week's close - Closing prices on slaughter steers were 50-75 cents lower and heifers were mostly 50 cents lower. Cow prices advanced 50-1.00 early and bulls were steady. Fleshy feeder steers were 50 cents lower largely in sympathy with lower fed cattle prices.

Four day receipts 16,400 compared 13,600 previous week and 15,900 a year ago. The fed cattle trade followed much the same pattern as the previous week with live prices working downward in reflection of a continued bearish trade on carcass beef. Day-to-day declines were not severe, but the downward pressure was persistent as buyers sought to maintain an acceptable ratio between live prices and current carcass realizations. Demand was generally good, however, as most interests were in need of cattle for close-up requirements. One major buying interest returned to operations for the first time in nine weeks and one local independent reopened after a vacation closure. Slaughter steers made up approximately 45 per cent and heifers 35 per cent with a fairly liberal percentage choice. Cows comprised 9 per cent and feeders 9 per cent.

STEERS: Three loads Choice and Prime 3-4 1150-1216 lbs. 55.25, early. At midweek low time, two loads Choice and Prime 3-4 1206-1305 lbs. 54.50 several loads 4-5 1322-1389 lbs. 53.50-54.50 during week. Good 2-3 49.00-52.00, Holsteins 47.00-48.00. Standard and Good 2-3 45.00-46.00.

Average of LS-214, detailed quotations, for Choice 900-1100 lb. steers this week 53.25. Choice 1100-1300 lbs. 53.85. Average weight steers first three days 1145 lbs. as compared 1120 lbs. previous week. Average weight heifers first three days 969 lbs. compared 968 lbs. previous week.

You get better feed conversion and lower cost of gain with corn-soy and Vigortone.

If you're feeding hogs from birth-to-market, corn-soy and Vigortone will make you more money. Your figures will prove it.

Start out with more uniform litters at less cost with Vigortone's Sow Prep No. 4A. When feeding less than four lbs. of feed, use Sow Prep No. 54. You'll have big savings over self-feeding programs.

Then, save 50% on your pre-starter rations with Vigortone's Creep Wean No. 3. This highly potent pre-mix contains vitamins, minerals and amino acids that assure fast growth right through weaning. Your baby pigs will really go for this highly palatable pre-starter because you grind and mix it yourself — fresh.

Add your choice of antibiotic to your pre-starter, or use Creep Wean No. 3C with Mecadox.* It controls swine dysentery and bacterial swine enteritis.

At 45 pounds, put your pigs on Vigortone 16% starter ration. Your cost of gain will be lower, because you again prepare it yourself using homegrown feedstuffs and Vigortone.

Keep your pigs on corn-soy and Vigortone right on through growing and finishing. Your hogs are assured the essential balance and levels of amino acids, major minerals, trace minerals, and vitamins.

Make more money this year by lowering your feed costs from birth-to-market. Feed Vigortone fortified corn-soy rations.

Now is the time to compare

See your Vigortone dealer soon. He's ready to compare the performance of Vigortone's low-cost swine feeding programs with any other you name.

Threshermen hold festivities on Wednesday

KINZERS -- "The threshers are comin'!"

Seventy years ago that cry heralded a day of excitement and hard work on farms all across America as the threshers rolled in with their huge, huffing steam traction engines to "thrash" the wheat crop.

Those days when the smoke-belching, steam-spitting behemoths were the greatest things on American farms since steel plowshares will live again when the 30th annual Old Threshermen's Reunion gets underway Wednesday on the grounds of the Rough and Tumble Engineers Historical Association, here.

The reunion runs Aug. 6-19 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily. The reunion will feature at least 20 of the old steam engines, performing a variety of tasks. The steam engines, some of which date to before the turn of the century, will be used to thresh grain, crush stone and run a sawmill and a shingle mill.

Daily at 1:30 p.m. there will be a Pageant of Threshing, demonstrating various methods of threshing grain. At 4 p.m. daily there will be a grand parade of the old engines.

In addition to the steam engines the reunion will feature old tractors, antique cars, antique wagons and old-time fire engines. There will be wagon and train rides and demonstrations of tread and sweep power.

There will also be a hobby and model building, a flea market, apple-butter boiling and quiltmaking. There will also be a quilt auction.

Food, including old-fashioned homemade ice cream, will be available at stands operated by the Kinzers Fire Company and various church groups.

Admission to the reunion is $2 for adults, $1 for children 6 to 12. Parking is free on the historical association grounds.

Scott Stoltzfus wins Berks FFA swine show

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

LEESPORT — Fourteen year old Scott Stoltzfus of Elverson R2 was very skeptical about bringing home any awards on August 2 from the Berks County FFA Market Hog Show and Sale, held here annually at the Leesport Market and Auction. He had entered the event for the first time. "I just didn't think my hogs were good enough," he commented with a wry smile.

But Scott underestimated his York/Hampshire crossbreds. Competing against 41 other hogs being shown by 16 fellow exhibitors, Scott showed his heavyweight barrow and mediumweight gilt to the grand and reserve champion honors. The son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilmer Stoltzfus, this proud exhibitor is looking forward to many more shows while in the FFA.

Scott, who will be attending ninth grade at Twin Valley this Fall, explained that he has shown previously in 4-H competition but never went away with grand champions before. Rounding out his exceptional day, this young man also took third place in the lightweight class, outplacing his older brother, Tim, in all three weight divisions.

Taking the blue ribbon in the lightweights was Betsy Moyer of Richland R1, with her 195 pound Duroc gilt This young lady is the 17-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Moyer. She is a recent graduate of Tulpehocken High School and presently looking for a full-time job in agriculture.

Also commanding attention in the spotlight was Marjorie Faust of Kempton R1 Marjorie, the 16-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Faust, placed first in the junior showmanship competition. A senior at Kutztown Area High School, Marjorie explained that this is the first year she has shown hogs. She is currently raising several York/Duroc crossbreds and has three sows of her own.

The senior champion showman honor was awarded to 15-year old Randy Rabenold, Kutztown R2. The son of Mr. and Mrs Richard Rabenold, Randy has shown hogs for three years. He too raises hogs of his own and presently has three purebred Hampshire sows. This Fall, Randy will be a junior at Kutztown Area High School

Sweeping away first place in the Fitting competition was Diane Stoltzfus of R2 Elverson. Diane is the 13-year old daughter of Mr and Mrs Frank Houck and will enter ninth grade at Twin Valley. this Fall. Diane should be very proud of her fitting skills since this too, is her first time at showing hogs

Later in the evening the annual sale followed. Purchasing the 245 pound grand champion at $1.50 per pound was Hatfield Packing Company, Hatfield, for a total figure of $367.50. Also buying the 225 pound reserve champion, Hatfield Packing paid $1.30 per pound for a total price of $292 50.

Fifty-three hogs were sold for an average price of $ 56 per pound, by the 17 exhibitors representing five FFA chapters Total weight of the hogs marketed was 10,605 pounds valued at a total of $6099.11. The average price per hog sold was $117.29. Other buyers were: Ralph Zettlemoyer, Breinigsville; Leesport Auction, Leesport; Peters Brothers, Lenhartsville; Yoders Meats, Shoemakersville; George Moyer, Bernville; and Erich Schmidt, Leesport.

Judging the show was Carl Graybill, Jr., vocational - agriculture teacher at Ephrata Area High School

Presenting the grand champion with a plaque was Eastern Pennsylvania Pork Producers Association, while the reserve champion plaque was presented by Berks-Lehigh Pork Producers Association.

Following are the complete results of the show·

Artificial insemination potential carrier of foot-and-mouth disease

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Can livestock breeders in one-half of the Western Hemisphere import semen from the other half and improve their herds? Or will they import foot-and-mouth disease along with the semen, wiping out all the progress they hoped to make?

The problem is that one-half of the Western Hemisphere – from Panama north – is free of foot-and-mouth disease. The other half, South America, has the disease in its livestock herds. But the southern half also has some good cattle in spite of the FMD threat, and many a rancher in northern countries would like to improve his herd with South American bloodlines.

Artificial insemination offers an economical way of importing those new bloodlines. But since semen can carry the virus of FMD, that presents a real threat of introducing the disease, one of the most contagious and destructive livestock plagues in the world.

The threat of introducing FMD by artificial insemination has led veterinarians, animal health officials, and responsible livestock producers throughout North and Central America to call for stronger laws against smuggling semen into the country and for the regulation of artificial insemination.

This concern came to a head in April at the 11th Inter-American Meeting on Foot-and-Mouth Disease and Zoonoses Control, held in Washington, D.C., under the auspices of the Pan-American Health Organization. Latin American livestock producers, represented by their international organization known as C.I.A.G.A., urged the adoption of a resolution calling on all PAHO member nations to enact stronger laws for the prosecution of persons illegally importing semen, and to work toward developing safe procedures for the importation of semen throughout the hemisphere.

With the support of the United States and other nations, the resolution passed. Veterinary officials from some 30 countries thus addressed the issue of semen smuggling and the threat of FMD. The response will depend on the determination of PAHO member governments to recognize what a disaster FMD would be if it is introduced into the FMD-free nations, and to act aggressively to prevent it.

One of the resolution's proponents is Dr. Francis J. Mulhern, administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service. He sees the need for a two-step approach to stop the movement of illegal, potentially infected semen: 1 Make smuggling unpleasant and unprofitable through law enforcement, and 2. Meet the demand for livestock semen by developing legitimate artificial insemination centers under government regulation.

"We are in full agreement with the cattle industry that new bloodlines are vitally important to the efficient production of animal protein," Dr. Mulhern said.

"One of the most effective ways of introducing new bloodlines is through artificial insemination. Our concern is that all countries in the Western Hemisphere work together to establish procedures for importing semen safely so that the national herds we are trying to improve are not exposed to the risk of FMD."

Dr. Mulhern notes that the sea and dense jungle present natural obstacles to the northward movement of FMD-infected animals, but smuggled semen from South America can easily bypass such barriers. National and international controls are necessary to close this gap in our security against animal disease.

The consequences of FMD can hardly be ignored. The disease affects cattle, sheep, goats, swine and all other cloven-hooved animals, including deer. It spreads like wildfire. Mortality may not always be high, but wherever the disease occurs, it drastically reduces productivity and increases costs. Once established, it becomes a constant source of new outbreaks. Expensive semiannual vaccinations are required to maintain healthy and productive herds.

Dr. Mulhern estimates that living with FMD would reduce livestock productivity and/or increase costs by 25 per cent. Eradication - the only way of dealing with the disease - would require aggressive, drastic action: Widespread quarantines, stop-movement orders, market closings, massive surveillance, and the destruction of thousands of infected or exposed animals.

"The price tag attached to FMD is such that it can hardly justify the risk of untested and unregulated artificial insemination operations," Dr. Mulhern says.

Semen collection, testing, and certification in South America, as envisaged by PAHO members, would reflect the experience gained by the establishment of four artificial insemination centers in Europe under the direct supervision of USDA employees. These centers– located at Brest, France;

Agricultural census planned for 1979

JERRY WEBB
University of Delaware

NEWARK, Del. – Hang on to your record books farmers--another census of agriculture is headed your way. The Bureau of the Census has just announced that all farmers will receive a questionnaire in the mail starting in January '79.

The government promises a much simpler job than usual with four-fifths of all farm households getting a four-page form that asks about land ownership and use, crops, poultry and livestock, total value of products sold, and operator and farm characteristics. The other one-fifth will get a five-page form asking about land values, production expenses, equipment, labor, fertilizer, pesticides, and fuel use and storage

Farmers are known to complain about census reports and other governmental forms they are asked to complete. Form filling takes time, but on the other hand some of it is important to both the farmer and the consumer.

Consider the fact that there are 2.5 million farms in this country and they produce an incredibly large and varied supply of food, fiber and forest products. So how does each farmer know what to produce? How can he be sure that there will be a market for what he grows? How does he know when and where to sell?

The answers to these questions and many more are dependent on a wide range of economic information that is available to farmers and since they operate in a market-oriented economy, each makes his own decisions based on the information at hand. Therefore, the more information available, the better off he'll be.

There isn't an economic dictator that tells consumers what to consume and producers what to produce. This market-oriented economy functions effectively only when information is available at all levels. And the more information available, the better it functions. Inaccurate information or no information at all distorts the market system and causes gluts or scarcities.

Since farmers operate in a free market system more or less, price is pretty much the determinate of what they will produce. And while this may be hard for some people to understand, farmers don't decide their prices. This point has been made over and over again, but still I find a lot of consumers don't have the slightest idea about this. Their only contact with the farmer may be a visit to a roadside stand where the farmer is, in fact, setting a price. But the bulk of what farmers produce is sold through a market system where the price is dictated to the farmer. Price determines the availability of supplies among the buyers and in turn prices are transmitted through the system to the producer. High or very profitable prices encourage more production. On the other hand, low prices cause cutbacks in production.

Farmers need a wide range of up-to-date information if they are going to make intelligent decisions and come at all close to meeting consumer needs. Among other things, they need to know the production intentions of other farmers. They need information on supply and demand for various commodities, the price outlook, and anymore, they need to know quite a bit about conditions in the world market.

Firms that sell supplies to or buy commodities from farmers also need information on agricultural production and marketing intentions. Without it, they may not be able to meet

WINTER NEWS LETTER 1977
DECEMBER 1, 1977

It's the time of the year when cows head into the barn for the winter. It is a long six months for those cows on uncomfortable, cold, hard concrete. Concrete under cows costs dairymen millions of dollars a year in injuries, cow turn over, lost milk production and veterinary bills. Mother Nature never intended for cows to be on concrete — man did this to his cows and has been paying the bill ever since. I've always said if you take stress away from man he'll do better; it's the same for animals. Put "Red Barn" cow mats on top of concrete or in concrete and watch the results.

Here's a "result" report from an excellent "Red Barn" dealer in eastern Wisconsin. "We installed 108 "Red Barn" cow mats for a customer in a free stall barn this past summer and his first full month on mats showed the dairyman an amazing 500 pound increase in milk production per day." We can't guarantee this kind of results, but we know if you eliminate the stress you get results and it's a big help to the pocketbook. I'm sure this dairyman is as happy as a new bride in a fully furnished new home, which he should be. Just imagine 500 pounds per day at $9.00 cwt is $45.00 per day or $1350.00 per month or $16,200.00 per year. If he paid list price for the mats he's still over $10,000.00 ahead profit wise for the year. That sure doesn't hurt the pocketbook! This 108 free stall barn was built several years ago and the stalls weren't cemented out. Instead, a clay base was used and we know today how cows really dig it up. Not only is this uncomfortable for cows but the holes and pockets enable the cow to get under the divider and can't get up. Laying downhill is common in these situations. Did you ever see a cow laying downhill out in the pasture, no way, it's just reverse. So, this 108 free stall barn was cemented out and matted and the result story is in. Thanks to John Reinke, our dealer, for this result story.

BROWN SWISS

Being at the halter of grand champions is nothing new for 16-year old Gary Mase of Lebanon. He has been doing it for at least five years. His harvest of blue ribbons this week, however, was particularly successful On Tuesday he won both the 4-H and FFA shows, and on Thursday he beat the competition flat in the open show.

The young man, who is hopeful of going into the dairy business someday, was awarded senior and grand as well as reserve senior and reserve grand championship ribbons He also won first place in all of the group classes

The junior champion was shown by Bruce Heilinger of Newmanstown who took a junior yearling into the ring Michael Kunkle of Jonestown exhibited a junior calf which was chosen as junior champion of the breed. He also had a second-place intermediate calf. The only other exhibitor besides Mase and Heilinger who was at the halter of a first-place Brown Swiss entry was Franklin Feeser of Newmanstown. He had an intermediate calf. Mase dominated the rest of the show.

GUERNSEYS

Dale Smith of Annville exhibited the senior and grand champion in this year's Open Guernsey Show at the Lebanon Fair. The reserve honor in both cases was given to Susan Heilinger, of Newmanstown. Sharing the spotlight for junior champion honors were Bill Dickinson of Manheim who had the top spot, and Diane Hackman of Newmanstown. They exhibited a senior calf and junior calf, respectively.

Other first-place winners in the contest were Tom Smith of Annville and Dennis Hackman of Newmanstown.

JERSEYS

Patricia Dreisbach of Hamburg, Berks County, came to the Lebanon Fair with stylish bovines which kept up her own and her family's winning tradition in the show circuit. Her champion here, a 3-year old sired by Advancer Sleeping Milestone, bested an entry by local exhibitor Donald Bomberger of Annville. He showed an aged cow which stood as reserve senior and reserve grand champion.

This reserve grand champion Jersey, owned by Donald Bomberger, of Annville, is being held by his daughter, Susan.

Twelve year old Patty Dreisbach, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Dreisbach, Hamburg, exhibited the grand champion Jersey at the Lebanon Fair on Thursday.

The junior champion also came from the Dreisbach herd, with Patty again at the halter. The reserve slot was filled by Marilyn Deaven of Fredericksburg.

In the senior calf class, which had six entries, the top three places were awarded to Patty Dreisbach, William Hoffman, Newmanstown; and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Dreisbach, Hamburg, in that order. The top two junior yearlings belonged to Marilyn Deaven and the Dreisbach family. Miss Deaven captured another first place in the senior yearling class, as Carol Dreisbach of Hamburg squeezed in for the runner-up spot.

In milking classes, the Dreisbachs dominated, winning first places in every case.The top dairy herd award was also given to the Dreisbachs. Miss Bomberger, winner two days earlier in the 4-H Jersey show, was singled out for having the best dam and daughter pair and produce of dam entries.

MILKING SHORTHORN

The Yoder family of Shoemakersville caused no eyebrows to rise when they once again swept in all of the ribbons and trophies in the Milking Shorthorn contest. Nedra Yoder, a former Berks County dairy princess, exhibited both of the senior and grand champions.

With their quest for blue ribbons uncontested, all of the Yoders - Nedra, Frederick, Samuel, and Phyllis - handily took a bunch of them home.

AWARD SPONSORS

Award sponsors for this year's open dairy shows at the Lebanon Fair were:

Open class grand champion Holstein – Lebanon County Holstein Club; Junior champion Holstein – Gem-Rock Farm; Grand champion Holstein bull – Mil-Harv Farms; Grand champion and reserve grand champion in colored breeds - - Maulfair Acres; merit ribbons for all breeds – Penn Jersey Harvestore.

First the halters, then the blue ribbons -- that's been the routine whenever Gary Mase exhibits his Brown Swiss at the Lebanon Fair.

Life on the farm

By Dieter Krieg

The shrill ringing of the phone sounded like an alarm, and within seconds three of us were on our way to answer it. Awakened by the unwelcome sound as though it were a cold bucket of water thrown at us, we knew something was wrong The conversation only lasted for a few seconds and before Dad had hung up the phone we knew what the problem was.

Grumbling all the while, we put our boots on and stepped into the dark and rainy night Flashes of lightning sporadically illuminated the sky as we ran across the saturated pasture, slipping occasionally on the wet grass. The rain fell steadily but not hard Our footsteps sounded as though we were wearing wet sponges on our feet

Aiming his big flashlight towards the fence and cornfield, Dad looked for the villains as well as evidence of broken wires. Meanwhile my brother, Ingo, and I ran ahead to within 50 yards of the rascals who were causing all the commotion From here on the situation was critical

The last thing we wanted to do was startle the cows into a stampede through the neighbor's garden, our corn field, or the woods and briars -- especially during the middle of a rain-soaked night Inevitably, however, one or two of the young, rambunctious ones would fling their tails straight up in the air and "high-tail it" in a spirited manner That would often cause others to do likewise.

As the first cow took notice of our slow, cautious approach from three directions, she raised her head and stared at us motionlessly Moments later most of the rest of a dozen or more escapees focused their attention in our direction, all of them seemingly ready to explode into a run through the wet grass and corn field We knew they could

They studied our moves, and we studied theirs, coaxing them with words and actions. It's like walking in your bare feet in a room filled with mousetraps

Dad had opened the hole in the fence to make a large entrance into the pasture. Ingo and I herded them along the edge of the field, constantly taking an "inventory" of numbers and names.

All of a sudden the corn stalks began to crack Two previously undetected cows were giving their secret away, never missing a bite as they ran away There was no time for them now, however. The 14 we were trying to get rounded up were more important. All but two went in, after which they were escorted several hundred yards away from the scene.

The remaining four joined up and were by this time a little worried about what was happening. As long as there was a fairly large group out, they wanted to remain at large, but now they wanted to join the rest of the herd. Consequently they trotted down alongside the fence until they could go no further. We opened a gate and watched them "high-tail it" to their herdmates. Then we walked back to where the fence was broken to close it up as best we could for the time being college." He has met the managers of some of the nation's largest cooperatives and will continue to work with them on the AIC Board of Trustees.

Soaked to the skin by the steady rainfall, we returned to the house to clean up and climb back into bed for the few hours that remained before milking time.

Redding was selected to attend AIC as one of two second year scholars chosen at the Pennsylvania Association of Farmers Cooperative's Summer Institute held at Shippensburg College in July. Last year he attended the PAFC Summer Institute for the first time. At AIC, he was picked first from his discussion group for a five minute interview designed to choose finalists for the "Mr. AIC" and "Miss AIC" contest. Six finalists in each category were selected for a 15-minute interview and for extensive testing about the cooperative way of doing business. "Miss AIC" was a young woman from Iowa and both young people will travel extensively on behalf of cooperatives.

Redding states, "I was proud to be chosen to serve cooperatives from all over the United States and not just on the East Coast." Redding, who lives on a 165-acre farm near Mummasburg, is a member of Agway, and his father, Lawrence shipped their milk to the Maryland-Virginia Cooperative.

With Redding going off to college and leaving just one younger brother at home to help his father with the work, the family decided to sell the dairy herd, with the sale of the entire herd taking place just two weeks ago. They will raise dairy heifers in the future, and his father will continue to farm the family farm and an additional 200 acres of rented land.

In June, Redding was selected vice-president of the Future Farmers of America, and has been busy traveling in that position. He credits all of his success, which is extensive, to his background in FFA. "FFA set the tone as far as my future goes." He says the experience he received in being chapter and county president and running for a state office were invaluable in helping him meet the challenge of the interviews at AIC.

In FFA, Redding was a silver medal winner in project books, placed fourth in the agronomy judging contest, served on numerous committees and was named a Keystone Farmer in January. In his junior year he received the Elmer H. Shriver award for being the outstanding vo-ag student. In 1977 he was Star and Chapter Farmer. His projects were in small grains, dairy herd, and home garden.

While noting that his FFA experience has been a "stepping stone", Redding said, "I feel the program at PAFC helped me very much. We also had a one-day Institute which really helped out." He had nothing but praise for the PAFC Institute program, saying "PAFC is the only group which teaches about cooperatives. It is the only way to learn about ways of doing business." He noted that one valuable experience for him was serving as president of the Board of Directors of a "mini-co-op" set up to market T-shirts, pictures, and organize a pizza party. He said, "We hired a manager, and everyone had a chance to participate. The decisions were all ours - we ran the meetings." The co-op had a successful three-day period: when it dissolved at the end of the conference it had a $350 profit which cooperative members elected to use to send the first alternate scholar to the AIC conference.

Redding has had a busy Summer - just three weeks have been spent at home. When home, he must work to compensate for his long absences but he added, "When it comes time to write speeches I must take time out from things which ought to be done and write them. It is hard to write speeches. It takes a lot of time and planning, and a lot of management of time."

In addition to preparing speeches for his many public appearances, Redding acknowledged, "I spend a lot of time in correspondence." He admits to keeping "a little black book" which he uses to make notes as he meets people and gets invited to functions. He said his family helps keep after him to make sure he keeps up with his writing obligations. "Even keeping my calendar takes time. I spend more hours behind the desk than working in the field."

Russell has six older brothers, one younger brother, and three older sisters, and gives them a lot of credit for his successful FFA career. He said one brother went to the Summer institute and gave him pointers on that and another brother, a vo-ag teacher at a nearby school system, helped him a lot throughout the year. His two aunts who live on the farm help make sure he has clean clothes and a packed suitcase for his frequent trips. "My family helps out a great deal," he states appreciatively.

In the next year, Redding has trips planned to Missouri, Las Vegas, and Los Angeles as well as much travel within the state. He has already determined that he will need to take off from college during Spring term in 1979 to fulfill obligations for speaking engagements. Wherever he goes a sturdy, organized brief case travels with him.

Adams County Agricultural Extension Agent John Schwartz said, "Russell is an outstanding young gentleman and we are very impressed with him and quite proud of his honor. PAFC has one of the best youth programs going and co-ops should be given credit for having the only conference which acquaints young people with the world of business. It is unique and valuable." Schwartz gave credit for Redding's successes to his outstanding work in the FFA program at Gettysburg.

Russell Redding speaks about his honor quietly, but with assurance and confidence. The new "Mr. AIC" will be an articulate and knowledgeable spokesman for farmer cooperatives, and is eager to accept every challenge which comes his way.

Lancaster County heifers going to Africa

MANHEIM — Thirty-three head of Holstein heifers were at the Clarence A. Keener, Jr. farm last weekend as part of the continuing Heifer Project International. They are to be shipped to the east African country of Tanzania.

According to Clarence Keener, Sr., the heifers are a new sight in the African area. Previous to the start of the project four years ago, the people who lived there had never tasted fresh milk, only the powdered variety.

The heifers which came from Lancaster, Chester, and Franklin Counties, along with one animal from the state of Maryland, were the third shipment of animals in as many months, bringing the total number of animals sent this year to 132, a few short of the goal.

Keener thought that cattle were hard to get this year due to the high prices received on the market.

The heifers were sent to the HPI's 1,200 acre farm in Little Rock, Arkansas, where they will be given shots and tested for tuberculosis, and generally prepared for shipment to their new home.

Then, in October, the animals will be flown to Tanzania where veterinarians will receive them. Then they will be distributed on a 50,000 acre ranch where they will he tended to by Africans.

The heifers, which will be bred this Fall, will be given to Tanzanians who must give the first heifer calf born to a neighbor, who in turn will breed the cow and share its first heifer with another neighbor. Thus the cattle continue to spread and multiply.

Last year Keener explained that more than $2 million worth of animals such as goats, sheep, poultry, pigs, and dairy animals were donated through this project.

The 33 head of heifers in Lancaster County were joined by ten more in Chambersburg before they were sent to Little Rock.

Clarence Keener, Sr., Manheim, moves among some of the 43 head of heifers that have gone to Little Rock, Arkansas, in preparation to be sent to Africa as part of Heifer Project International.

IT IS TIME TO CHANGE
(THIS FALL YET)
BACK TO NATURE IS THE ANSWER FOR PESTILENCE AND DISEASE
WE ARE PROVING IT
BIOLOGICAL FARMING MAKES ¢ENSE AND SAVES MANY $ $ $

Because it conserves energy - fertilizer & horsepower.
(bacteria & earthworms make plant food & loosen the soil)
Because it prevents pollution - that dreaded foe.
Because it produces food fit to eat & saves doctor bills.
Because it preserves the soil for our sons - it is no dead end street.
(that more chemicals you use, the more you have to use later)

It does all the above & costs less, especially if you use our soil innoculant - AGRISPON, which is being highly proven, near & far, including foreign countries on millions of acres: They are desperate and see the value of it. It replenishes the life to the soil which has been killed by toxins. Therefore, you need much less fertilizer. Soil tests prove it. Only $6.50 per acre. If you need fertilizer, use our long lasting, health promoting FERTRELL. Blue label is especially good for alfalfa & grasses.

SOIL CONDITIONER, another product, is especially good in breaking hard pan & loosening the soil from top to bottom for better root growth & water holding capacity. Only $2.70 per acre. In liquid form.

Apply above products on hay & grain fields as soon as crop is off, for fast decomposition of stalks - early soil conditioning. Only rotted stalks are fertilizer. Unrotted are nitrogen consumers next year. Though we sell fertilizer, we teach for your survival. Our program is winning because it was designed by the Creator. For service of a tractor, don't you use the manual of the maker? We have soil testing, spreading & non-toxic spraying service. Fall is the best time for organic.

Harvesting continues despite weather

HARRISBURG-- State Agriculture Secretary Kent Shelhamer said only three days were suitable for fieldwork in the week ending August 7 due to frequent showers and high humidity.

Citing a report from the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service, Shelhamer said soil moisture is now rated mostly adequate to surplus. Over a fourth of the reporters from the south rate moisture as surplus.

Harvesting of early apples and peaches continues, although rain has caused some splitting of peaches. Seasonal vegetables are in usual volume except tomatoes which have been slow to develop. Grape development is good but Japanese beetle and codling moth damage has been reported.

The state's corn crop is reportedly 48 per cent silked with eight per cent in the dough state. A year ago 63 per cent had silked by this date. The northern counties are 41 per cent in silk, central area operators report 42 per cent while the south is rated at 61 per cent. Some poorly drained fields show yellowing. Many reports indicate damage from the Japanese beetle.

Potatoes are less than five per cent dug statewide, about the same as last year. Only central counties show appreciable digging at seven per cent. Some flea beetle damage is reported.

At 30 per cent combined, oats are five days behind the 63 per cent combined a year ago. Northern counties are 21 per cent combined, the central area stands at 22 per cent while southern operators are 47 per cent done. Rains and high humidity are hindering combining and the crop is beginning to lodge.

Though less than five per cent has been done, Fall plowing is on par with last year. Little or none has been done in the north, a function of wet conditions and late small grain harvest.

The quality of hay made last week deteriorated to poor to fair. Much of what was cut has been rained upon and some is now overmature. The second cutting of alfalfa is at 68 per cent, a week behind last year. Eight per cent has been cut the third time. Clotim second cutting stands at 27 per cent, significantly below the over one-half of last year. Feed from pastures is rated average for this time of year.

"THE DIESEL WITH A DIFFERENCE"

Cuts your power costs because it's way ahead of its time on all points.

AVCO-VM diesel engines are world-proven money-savers. They deliver maximum power efficiency immediately, under any sudden load or climate variation. Their higher power to weight ratios mean NO REDUCTION IN HORSEPOWER to qualify for pollution standards.

They're stingy on fuel, too. Many users report fuel consumption CUT IN HALF — and more — compared with gasoline engines. In some installations, our diesels are delivering more than TWICE the hours of operation per gallon of fuel.

Faultless performance is the norm, rather than the exception. A choice of 27 premium quality air-cooled Avco-VM's (5 to 670-hp) means there's one that's right for your application.

Modular, unitized construction means fewer specialized parts, lower weight per hp, lower maintenance costs, 70% parts interchangeability — and they'll fit the tightest space.

In the breeds division of the show, Melanie Bow, Annville R1, showed the champion ewe, a purebred Suffolk yearling, weighing about 175 pounds.

Buying Bread

When buying bread or rolls, be careful. If the interior has a grayish cast instead of being clear white or slightly creamy colored, it probably means an inferior flour was used or that it was processed poorly Look for crusts that are uniform in color and thickness Ideally, the crust should be golden brown

Montgomery County preparing for 4-H fair

NORRISTOWN -- Throughout Montgomery County 4-H members and leaders are busily preparing for the upcoming 4-H Fair to be held August 16 to 19 at the Montgomery County 4-H Center in Lansdale.

The Fair provides a chance for 4-H'ers to exhibit their project work for judging. Several hundred projects will be on display inside the 4-H Center with the outside grounds alive with dairy cows, steers, sheep, goats, and horses being readied for their shows. Over 300 clothing articles, 120 head of cattle and nearly 200 horses are expected to be among the major exhibits.

The public is invited to see the many projects on display, view the livestock shows and participate in youth events. Opening ceremonies at 7 p.m. will feature the introduction of the Outstanding 4-H Boy and Girl (Jamie Graybeal of Telford and Rita Wojton of Trappe) who will arrive in an antique Ford Pheton to meet a mounted colorguard. After brief welcoming messages a special colorful demonstration on "Paso Fono" horses will be given by Terri Leidy, Souderton, and Susan Schaffner, Sellersville. The event will feature traditional costume; "bella form" class; equitation; and trail obstacles.

At 7:30 p.m. the 4-H Horse Production Show and the 4-H Baby Beef Show will begin. The 4-H Center will also open at this time allowing everyone to see the results of the project judging done earlier in the day.

One Thursday event that begins at 10:30 a.m. will be the 4-H Dairy Show. The building will be open for viewing at NOON. Following the Dairy Show will be the 4-H Dairy Goat Show at approximately 3:30 p.m. At 6:30 p.m. the 4-H Sheep Show will begin.

There will be a special bike rodeo at 2:30-4:00 p.m. open to non-4-H and 4-H alike. All youth are invited to participate. Ribbons will be given out for top winners in relays, skill tests, games and safety inspection. Contestants must bring their own bicycles. Registration is from 2:15 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

In the evening a horse grooming and showmanship class will be held in the main horse ring. Pony rides may also be available on Thursday.

Friday will see a 4-H Rabbit and Cavy Show commencing at 9:00 a.m. in the main tent. The building again opens at NOON. There will be pony and wagon rides available from approximately 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. A petting zoo will also be featured at NOON.

A favorite event will be a Pet Parade open to all youth in the county. Registration is at 1:30 - 2:00 p.m. There will be numerous classes ranging from "best groomed" to "most resembles owner". No poultry or pet birds are permitted due to health regulations. At the end of the show there will be several classes for livestock and large animals including a special costume class.

For those who enjoy crafts there will be a "make it and take it" booth in the Center, open from 12 NOON till 7:00 p.m.

The evening will feature a family picnic and chicken Bar-B-Que (by reservation) a fun olympics for youngsters, a "celebrity" goat milking contest, and a watermelon seed-spitting contest! These events always seem to provide much laughter and enjoyment for contestants and spectators.

Concluding the fair will be a recognition program for 4-H State Achievement Days winners and Fair Champions. After the candlelight ceremony, a square dance will be held in the tent area.

Saturday will feature the 4-H Horse Show starting 8:30 a.m. till evening.

For more information on any of these events contact the 4-H office at 215-277-0547.

Ready and waiting to show off his riding talents is 4-H'er Tim Hunt of Ambler, a member of the Merry Riders 4-H Horse Club. Tim will ride his pony "Jinga" in the annual 4-H horse show to be held as part of the Montgomery County 4-H Fair which opens August 16 to 19 at the 4-H Center located on Snyder Road off Route 363 near Lansdale. The public is invited to see the numerous project exhibits, livestock shows and other youth events. For information, call 277-0574.

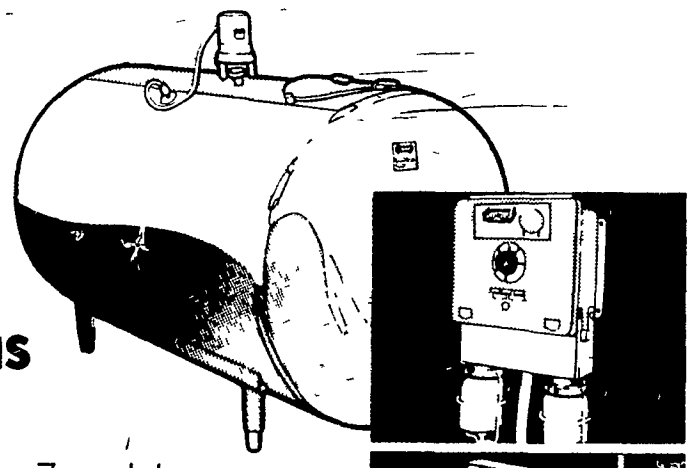
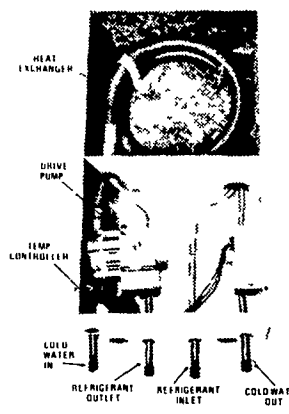
SAVE ENERGY AND GET MAXIMUM EFFICIENCY FROM YOUR MILKING SYSTEM...

SURGE ARC Energy Converter



THE TANK THAT MAINTAINS PEAK QUALITY ON LESS ENERGY

7 models now available with automatic response cooling.



Here's How It Works!

The ARC Energy Converter's heat exchanger is a tube inside a tube The hot discharge gas (refrigerant) from the compressor is brought into contact with the water through a copper wall The hot gas is circulated by the compressor at temperatures varying from 180°F to 220°F (82° to 104°C)

Water is pumped from the cold water portion of the water heater and/or storage tank through the ARC Energy Converter and back to the hot water portion of the water heater and/or storage tank The pump will continue to circulate water as long as the compressor operates If the water becomes too hot (entire water supply 180°F or 82°C) the pump will stop. The pump will automatically start if hot water is used creating a new demand

Wylie wins 4-H beef show at Goshen Fair

WEST CHESTER — Bill Wylie, Nottingham R2, a 14 year old Chester County 4-H'er took his steer to the championship spotlight last Saturday night when he was named the champion of the Goshen Fair's Summer Beef 4-H Show.

He showed a Simmental crossbred animal, which when last weighed, numbered 1125 pounds. The steer had previously been named the champion at an earlier show held this Summer by the 4-H club.

Wylie was also named first in the junior showmanship class at the show. And he related that he had also had the champion steer at the Goshen Fair show the Summer of 1977.

The reserve champion steer was shown by Jeff Walker, 13, of West Chester R1. He showed a Charolais-Angus-Hereford crossbred that was reported to weigh between 1000 and 1100 pounds. His animal had been named the reserve champion at the earlier show held by the 4-H this Summer.

Youth from both Montgomery and Chester County competed in the show, both in weight and showmanship and fitting classes.

Judge for the show was Jay Faught, Mechanicsburg.

Energy pinch seen

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rising energy prices will likely increase farm production costs by two to three per cent and raise consumer food bills by four to five per cent above the rate of inflation between 1975 and 1985. This was predicted by USDA economists R. Thomas Van Arsdall and Patricia J. Devlin in a report released last week. Based on energy price projections made by the Federal Energy Administration last year, real prices of energy used by U.S. farmers are expected to increase 27 to 39 per cent during the 10-year period, the report said.

Single copies of the report, "Energy Policies: Price Impacts on the U.S. Food System" (AER-000) are available from ESCS Publications, Room 0054-S, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

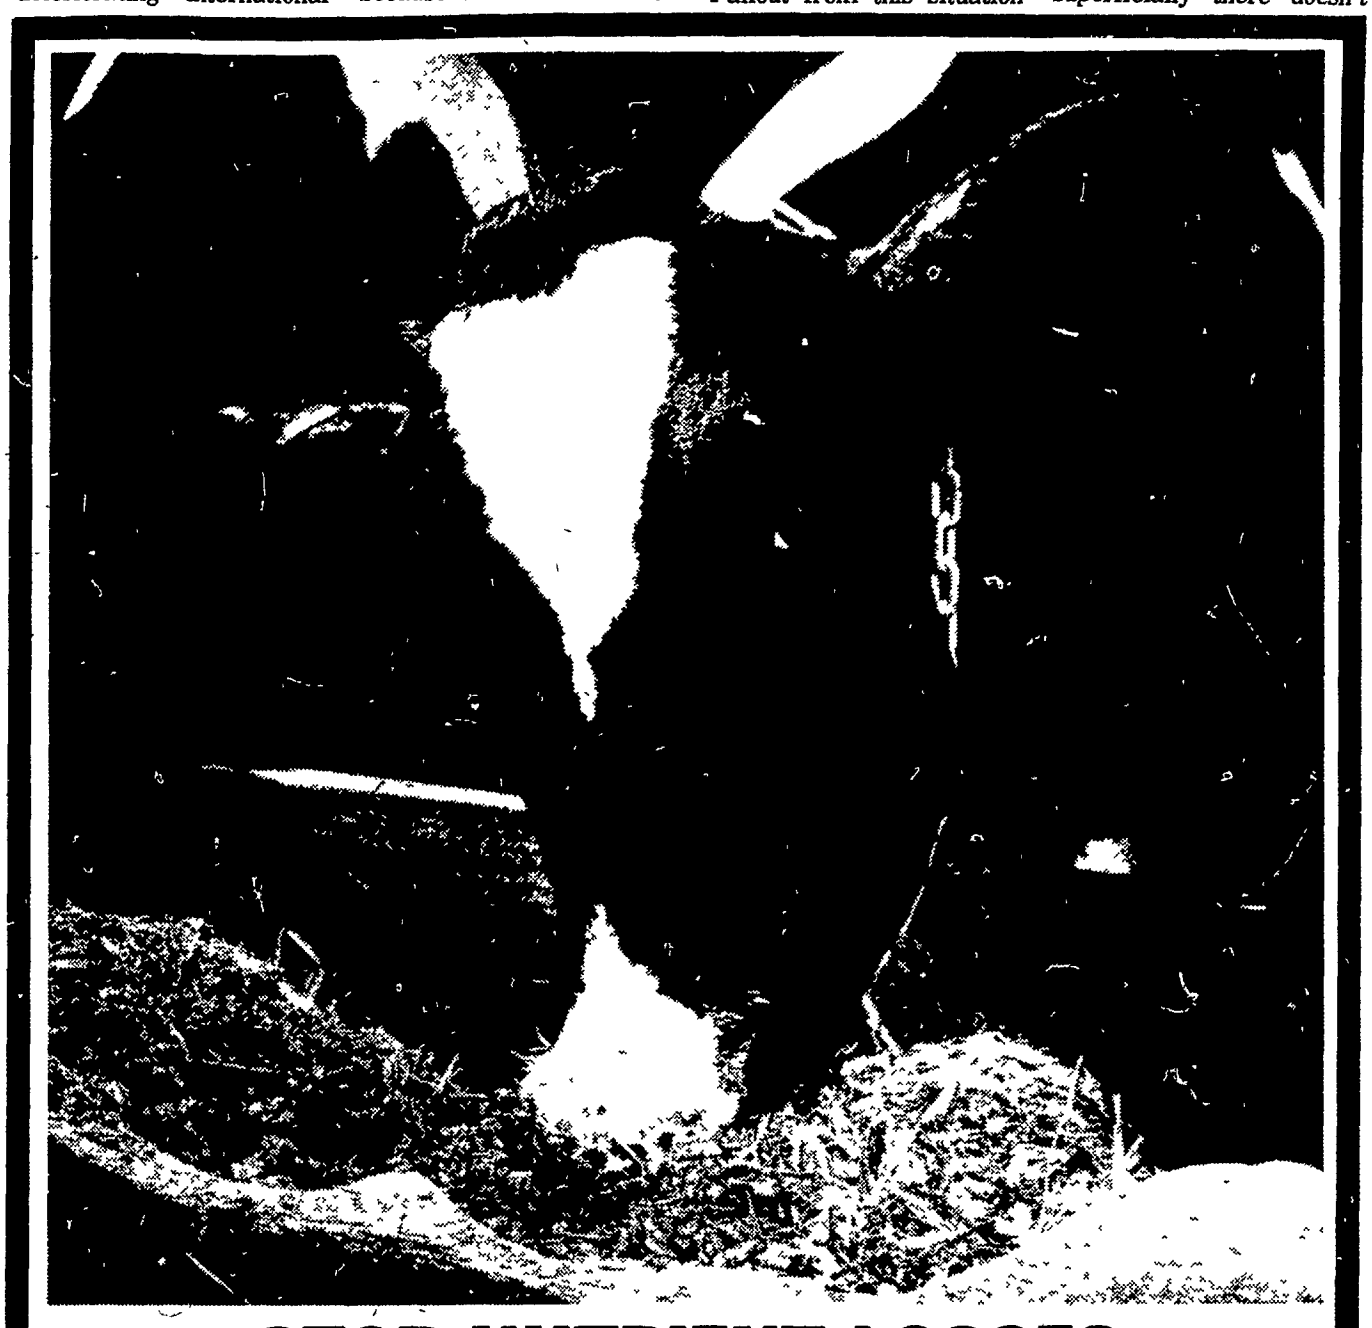
Trade restrictions could affect grain producers

COLLEGE PARK – Pretty interesting to read about the current hassles and deteriorating international relations between the U.S. and the Soviet Union, isn't it? Watch out, though, because the U.S. stance of "sock it to 'em" by restricting trade may sock more than the Soviets. Fallout from this situation may land right on the heads (and billfolds) of the U.S. grain producers. No, superficially there doesn't seem to be much connection between calling off the delivery of a big computer to the USSR and any potential ill-effects for farmers. But, suppose Washington decides that grain has just as much strategic value in this "cool war" as the computer?

The U.S. already faces heavy wheat and corn carryovers, plus the likelihood of a large 1978 crop production. What if the U.S. uses the 5-year U.S.-USSR Grain Agreement to limit Soviet access to our markets for the year beginning October 1, 1978? A lid could be slapped on the 8 million ton maximum that the Soviets may purchase without prior consultation. During the current Agreement Year, 14.1 million tons have already been bought, 10.7 million tons (421 mill. bu.) of corn and 3.4 million tons (125 mill. bu.) of wheat. If an 8 million ton limit is set for the next year, U.S. corn and wheat producers could lose sizeable export sales during the 1978-79 season. Based on this year, corn farmers could lose 5.7 million tons (224 mill. bu.) of sales and wheat farmers could lose 400,000 tons (14.7 mill. bu.) of sales. Some say Soviet needs will be somewhat greater even with good crops, and that means a still larger sales loss. Then, too, the billion dollars in average annual sales, while helping farmers, also cuts the U.S. balance of trade deficit. Everybody's pocketbook seems to be tied to international politics.



STOP NUTRIENT LOSSES AND PRESERVE QUALITY SILAGE

Tests prove that Beacon Silage Pre-Serv* will reduce nutrient losses that can occur during silage fermentation. These losses are a result of excessive oxidation and seepage. Both can be controlled by using Beacon Silage Pre-Serv.
The result—more nutrients for milk production in every silo of treated corn silage. In fact, for every $1.70 invested, Beacon Silage Pre-Serv returns up to $4 in increased energy.
Apply it right at the chopper or blower. Beacon Silage Pre-Serv keeps your milk profits high! Beacon Headquarters, Cayuga New York.

Tariff deregulation bills approved

KANSAS CITY, Mo. – Officials of Livestock Marketing Association are looking forward to final Congressional passage of a livestock marketing tariff deregulation bill following the Senate Agriculture Committee's approval of the measure on Wednesday, July 19.

A similar bill, (H. R. 9482) which would validate the use of percentage or value-based marketing tariffs is now before the House. It was passed by the House Agriculture Committee June 28.

The Senate Committee action was unanimous and the bill (S.3272) now goes before the full Senate.

LMA President Loran Casey said the Senate Committee's passage of the bill "is striking evidence that this Committee, like its counterpart in the House, believes that the nation's livestock marketing businessmen should have the right to set their own charges, governed by the pressures of our competitive free market system.

"We are confident that both the House and Senate will approve this legislation," said J.D. Branscome, chairman of LMA's Livestock Marketing Forum, "which will benefit the entire livestock industry."

The U.S. Department of Agriculture recently was upheld by the courts in its contention that percentage or value-based tariffs were illegal. LMA is engaged in a nationwide campaign to modernize and reform the laws governing livestock marketing, and allow the use of percentage tariffs, long a custom in the livestock marketing sector.

demands for seed, fertilizer, chemicals, and other production supplies. Or, they may not be prepared to purchase what the farmers have to sell.

The government also has an interest in farm production. These days, the State Department is probably more interested in the crop report than anyone else. Farm exports play such a vital role in world trade and the U.S. balance of payment position is dependent on farm exports. In fact, the strength of the dollar and the whole U.S. foreign policy depends in large measure on farm exports. So what farmers produce, what they have to sell to other countries, and what is in short supply is very important to our government.

Congress also needs information about agriculture because it must act from time to time on farm legislation, and unless it has a score sheet it can't act very intelligently.

In planning their operations and developing market strategies to maximize their profits, farmers need information both on what has happened and what is likely to happen—both the history, and the future. Such information tends to stabilize production, marketing, and distribution, and thus it benefits consumers, farm related businesses and farmers.

Farmers get information from a lot of sources. Of course, they read all kinds of publications available from private industry and government agencies. They read farm magazines and forecasts from a wide range of experts. Out of all this they must make some decisions. So they keep a close eye on the general agriculture situation, farm costs and income, commodity data, the market news, and any other information they think will help.

Out of all the questions that government agencies ask farmers, much of the information is compiled and fed back to farmers through the Department of Agriculture's Statistical Reporting Service and the Economic Research Service. These agencies provide valuable data and analysis of various situations. Also, the federal Census of Agriculture taken every five years provides useful information.

While farmers may grumble about filling out forms and some even question the value of such items as crop reports and intentions to plant, I think it's safe to say the marketing system would be chaos without it. Because if farmers didn't have any idea how much of a commodity was going to be grown and based all of their farming decisions on what happened to them last year when they went to sell their crops, they could be in really serious trouble. I think most of the farmers agree that the more information they have, the better decisions they're able to make.

Use of margarine defended

ROSEDALE, Ark. – The American Soybean Association strongly favors the repeal of a section of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act which is outdated and discriminates against serving margarine in restaurants.

"Margarine is the dominant table spread, preferred by American families, not a substitute," ASA president Nick Rose said. "As soybean producers, we support efforts to provide equal treatment for margarine in restaurants and to remove the 'double notification' requirements that discriminate against margarine."

Rose stated ASA's stand in a letter to Representative Paul Rogers of Florida. The House Subcommittee on Health and Environment has held holding on several bills to amend the Act. Rogers has introduced an amendment to repeal Section 407 (c) of the Act, which currently requires resaturants to serve margarine with a printed label wrapper plus display a sign stating that margarine is served in the restaurant.

Competition aiding meat industry

CHICAGO, Ill. – The Giants of the fast food industry, McDonald's and Burger King, are squaring off in an effort to capture more of the fast food market, but one winner is already known – the meat industry.

A recent business article pointed out that second-place Burger King, with less than one fourth of leader McDonald's $3.7 billion sales, is trying to close the gap. Their marketing efforts include increasing the size of their small burger to two ounces (compared to McDonald's 1.6 ounce standard burger), development of a steak sandwich to attract dinner-hour business, and improving service to insure their hamburgers are hot when sold.

McDonald's is not sitting still. Their efforts include developing their own steak sandwich, and developing a new hamburger, "McFeast" to compete against Burger King's "Whopper."

Both companies are also stepping up their promotion efforts and management techniques because they believe the secret to selling hamburgers is marketing and quality control, not prices.

Keeping both McDonald's and Burger King on their toes is Wendy's International. Although small, compared to McDonald's and Burger King, Wendy's is the fastest-growing company in the fast food hamburger industry. Their rapid sales and profit growth is keyed to the use of only fresh meat instead of frozen in their hamburgers.

Any way you slice it, grill it or broil it, the livestock and meat industry gains when hamburger chains base growth efforts on offering more meat items and better service to consumers.

Emergency loans available

WASHINGTON, D.C. – President Carter last week signed a bill to provide up to $4 billion of additional credit to the nation's farmers. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland said loans under the new law would be available now through the Department's Farmers Home Administration (FmHA).

The new economic emergency loan program will offer special help to farmers who face a shortage of credit from regular sources or who are particularly hardhit by the current combination of rising production costs and lower prices for their crops and livestock.

Under the program, these farmers can borrow up to $400,000–at an unsubsidized interest rate–to sustain their normal farm operations or refinance existing debt. FmHA will guarantee loans by commercial lenders or make loans directly to farmers who lack other sources of necessary credit.

Other provisions of the new Agricultural Credit Act of 1978 will go into effect in about a week. According to Bergland, they will –double loan limits in regular FmHA programs for farm ownership and operations;

–raise limits on farm loans made by private lenders and guaranteed by FmHA; and –authorize FmHA to make loans to family-sized farms operated by partnerships, cooperatives and corporations. Previous law restricted eligibility to farmers operating as individuals.

The interest rate on economic emergency loans made directly by FmHA will be 8½ per cent. Rates in the future will be based on the government's cost of borrowing.

In the case of FmHA guaranteed loans, interest rates are negotiated between the borrower and lender, with FmHA guaranteeing up to 90 per cent of the loan

Loans for operating purposes will be made for up to seven years Loan that are consolidated or rescheduled will have an additional seven years repayment term. Under special conditions, FmHA may authorize repayment over 20 years.

Loans for annually-recurring expenses will be repayable annually.

Loans are limited to a maximum of $400,000 to a borrower. A borrower's combined debt for economic emergency and other types of non-emergency FmHA farm real estate and operating loans may not exceed $650,000.

Unique protein study at PSU

UNIVERSITY PARK – Poultry scientists at Penn State are on the trail of a protein thus far unnamed. The unique substance is the major component of egg shell membrane, according to Dr. Roland M. Leach, professor of poultry science at Penn State. He described the protein during the 67th Annual Convention of the Poultry Science Association recently at Clemson University, Clemson, S.C.

Dr. Leach and associates believe the new protein resembles both elastin and keratin, two known proteins, but differs from them in amino acid composition. Elastin is a rubber-like connective tissue protein which, for example, helps the lungs expand and contract. Keratin protein is the chief component of fingernails, horn, hair, and feathers.

Experiments at Penn State have found the new protein, in Dr. Leach's words, to be "an extremely insoluble fibrous protein."

Tied in with its insolubility is the protein's ability to link together small units of protein through "bridges" or cross-links. The protein is unique in containing both the bridges typical of keratin, called disulfide bridges, and those typical of elastin, known as desmosine and isodesmosine. These bridges are responsible for insolubility as well as elasticity of egg shell membrane, the Penn Stater said.

"Obviously, the protein researchers dealing with connective tissue are excited about our findings," he stated.

The findings by Leach and associates stemmed from studies of hens wherein copper deficiency produced eggs that were abnormal in size and shape. Egg shell membrane, where the protein was discovered, is the primary site of copper action in eggs. Thus, experiments with copper deficiency led to discovery of the unique protein.

Artificial

Bern, Switzerland; Sienna, Italy; and Schwandorf, West Germany--were under permanent quarantine and maintained the highest standards of sanitation and antiseptic security. Donor bulls and their semen were tested and certified free of FMD before semen was exported. Semen from these centers was tested again at USDA's foreign animal disease laboratory on Plum Island, N.Y., before it could be released for artificial insemination in the United States.

APHIS officials emphasize, however, that even tighter controls would be necessary for South American artificial insemination centers because of the higher incidence of FMD on that continent. Animals used at the center would have to be isolated from all other FMD-susceptible animals and a zone free of susceptible animals would have to be established around the center.

As expensive as this semen collection process may be, Dr. Mulhern and other animal health officials see these strict controls as the only safe way of adding South American bloodlines into U.S. livestock herds through semen. U.S. producers are cautioned always to remain alert to the possible introduction of FMD, and to help authorities by reporting any information concerning smuggled semen.

Of course, smuggled semen is not the only way FMD could enter the country. The disease could be carried in illegally imported meats and milk (in traveler's baggage, for example) that is fed to hogs as food waste; in ship or aircraft garbage that is not disposed of properly under USDA regulations; or even on shoes or in the clothing of people who have recently visited foreign livestock operations.

Early detection is the best assurance against the spread of this "hot" livestock disease. The first signs are a high fever, animals going off feed, and lameness caused by blisters, or "vesicles", between the hooves. Vesicles will also be found on the gums, tongue and teats. The vesicles soon will break, leaving raw lesions and sloughing bits of skin. Infected animals will have heavy mucus flows, or "slobbering" from the nose and mouth. Milk production will drop drastically.

Mortality may be high in some outbreaks, but even when animals apparently recover, they seldom return to their former health and productivity. The only "cure" for FMD is containment through quarantine, the destruction of all infected or exposed animals, and the cleaning and disinfection of every affected livestock operation.

"We are concerned about many destructive foreign livestock diseases," Dr. Mulhern says, "but foot-and-mouth disease is public enemy number one. We are free of it now, but we can stay that way only if we keep up our guard."

Farm wife loves the country life

HOMESTEAD NOTES

Joanne Mellinger is the calf manager in the family dairy operation. Here she plays with one of her many successes while a canine member of the family looks on.

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Writer

Mrs. Allen B. Mellinger, Ronks R2, feels that being a farmer's wife is the best life there is - and she's in a good position to know because she once was a "city girl."

Sitting in the living room of her home which dates from 1855 on the farm which dates from William Penn, Joanne Mellinger explains, "I am very happy living on a farm. I grew up on South West End Avenue in Lancaster and when I returned to help my mother for a short time this Summer I had to get used to the sounds again. It is completely quiet here. A farm," she adds, "is an ideal place for children. I recommend it highly."

The Mellingers farm 93 acres, and Joanne is an active partner in the work. "We are strictly a family farm," she says proudly. The Mellingers raise and grind their own corn, and produce all their own silage and hay. They milk about 32 cows and raise all their own replacements.

"I am the calf manager," she states. "I think that's a woman's place - she understands that. Calves are just like babies and you must care for them like babies."

Joanne lists three things which she considers vital to healthy calves: feeding colostrum from the mother as soon as possible; treating the navel with iodine; and keeping the area clean and dry. "If I get them through the first week I'm usually a success."

Joanne doesn't limit her work on the farm to cows and calves. She said, "I enjoy outside work more than inside work-I only work inside out of necessity." She goes on to say that she can drive the baler, disc the fields, or fill wagons for the silo while her husband unloads them.

She said, "At one time we did tobacco, but we stopped that hard work. I used to help strip tobacco and hoe it."

The Mellingers have four children who grew up on the farm. Allen, Jr., 21, is a senior at Kutztown College majoring in history; Abigail, 19, recently became Mrs. Edward Farnk and is working as a dental assistant for Dr. Frank Rocco; Andrew, 17, is a senior at Lampeter-Strasburg High School; and Alisa, 15, is a junior.

While the children work in the Summers on the farm, Mrs. Mellinger said, "They are very involved in school and we want them to be. They help here when they can but sometimes they are occupied otherwise." She said she and her husband are "staunch supporters" of the school teams on which their children play. Both girls played basketball and the boys played football, and she said they alsways try to be there for support.

The relationship of children to parents is one real benefit of farm living, Joanne said. "We were always here. The children helped and we worked together. Working and playing together is the most important things together. My mother enjoys it most of all. It seems like a lot of work, but we probably wouldn't get together if we didn't share the garden. Since my sister lives in Denver, we have to set aside a 'garden day.' We get a lot of problems ironed out in the garden." Of course, the obvious side benefit of the "therapy patch" is the mounds of fresh produce which is frozen and canned as it comes in. "I've had some kind of garden ever since I've been here," Joanne recalls.

Although she was raised in the city, Joanne is at home on the seat of a tractor as she is in the kitchen of her home.

"We are extremely proud of our children. We have a very good relationship with our children." She said she's a firm believer of mothers with small children being at home. "If you've made the decision to have children you should care for them. It's a metter of priorities - you must decide what is important."

The farm which the Mellingers call home was deeded directly to their ancestors from Mary Feree who had been given land as a gift from William Penn. They are the seventh generation to live on the farm, "and very proud of it," Joanne says.

Much of the time in the Summer is spent in her "therapy patch," a vegetable garden which encompasses about an acre. Joanne explains, "I have one sister, and the therapy patch gives my mother, sister, and I a chance to be together. My mother enjoys it most of all. It seems like a lot of work, but we probably wouldn't get together if we didn't share the garden. Since my sister lives in Denver, we have to set aside a 'garden day.' We get a lot of problems ironed out in the garden." Of course, the obvious side benefit of the "therapy patch" is the mounds of fresh produce which is frozen and canned as it comes in. "I've had some kind of garden ever since I've been here," Joanne recalls.

Joanne's interests are not limited to the farm. She volunteered to be a driver for Meals on Wheels because of a plea she heard on radio. She said she drove every Thursday in the Winter but has curtailed it for Summer to care for things on the farm. She'd like to return because, "The people really look forward to the visit. It is incredible - you really get much more out of it than you give. It is something that is really good."

Joanne plays bridge with a group which meets every two weeks. Describing herself as an outdoors person and sports-minded, it is not surprising that she plays tennis. She says, "I can give the young ones a run for their money." She is a member of Lancaster Church of the Brethren.

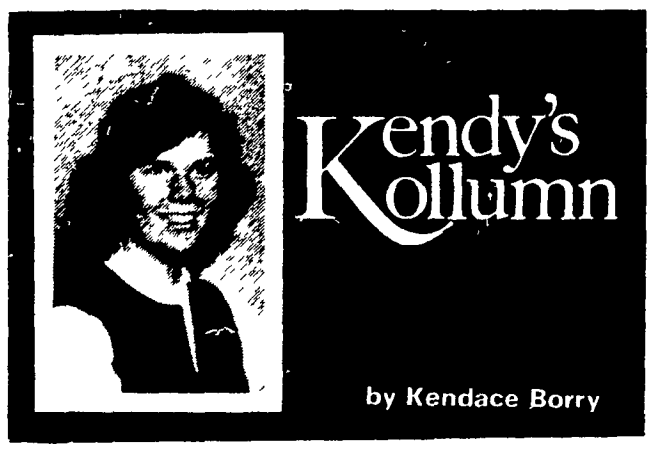
Her home is much the way it was originally, although it had once been an "L" shaped building and about six rooms were torn down by a previous generation. Now it is basically a rectangular farm house. Aside from papering and painting, it hasn't changed much. Joanne admits to liking to paint - especially around windows, and adds that if she sees a piece of furniture that needs refinishing, "I will sand it down really quick." There are many examples of her refinishing skills around the house.

In discussing the future, she relates, "I am a little bit concerned about the future of farming. It is real, real hard to go into farming at the prices of things today. Young people would need a lot of help." However, she points out, "I always told our children that if you want to do it badly enough, you can do it."

She adds, "I think we've lost sight of our priorities in this area - it really depends on what you hold near and dear. A lot of people are moving out, and it isn't just the high price of land.

"I sometimes think we don't get our message out well enough. We could do better in advertising ourselves. The farmer's story is misunderstood."

The Mellingers met through mutual friends; perhaps it was destiny. Joanne recalls, "As a child I always dreamed of being a nurse or a farmer's wife." As a mother of four she got in her fair share of nursing, and the farm wife role is a continuing one. So for Joanne, her work and chores and accomplishments each day are part of a dream come true.



You know Summer wouldn't be so bad if it weren't for the bugs They drive me crazy

It seems like a swarm of them follow me all over the farm They hover outside the back door, waiting faithfully for me to appear Before I even have the screen door closed, they go into formation and start to mill around my face It's sort of like having a cloud instantly form around my head, letting me only see the world in a dim haze

The little devils are persistent, following me out into the pasture and back again If I make a break for it, ducking and running for freedom, they just take it in stride, regrouping when I slow down When I go back into the house, they settle down to wait until I appear again

Then there are the mosquitos, who have feasted on my blood as long as I can remember One of the most frustrating things to me is waking up in the middle of the night, hearing that high wine preceding a deadly mosquito attack I've even ducked under the covers and pillows, only to discover that that's where the pesky troublemaker was lurking all the time

But most of all, I hate the flies To me, the only good fly is a dead fly I get great joy in putting the flyswatter to use in the house and turning on the spray fly defogger in the barn Just wish I knew where all the flies keep coming from

The worse place to spot a fly is in a moving car Have you ever tried to chase a fly while going 60 miles an hour? With my luck someday I'll total my car two seconds after buzzing a fly out the side window

Yes Summer is wonderful with its long days and bright sun, but those insects sure do bug me.

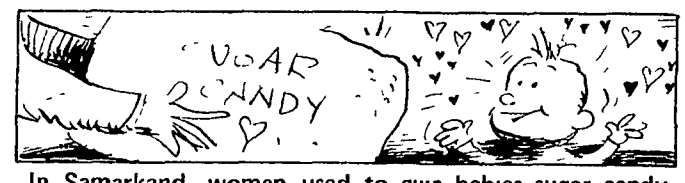
Loopers at work in cabbage patch

MEDIA – The cabbage looper, a worm that feeds on broccoli, cauliflower and turnips – the crucifer family – will be found in home gardens from now until September or October. The moths of the looper fly at night, laying eggs singly on the underleaf surface of plants.

The worm which hatches from this egg in a few days will feed on the underleaf surface, scarring the leaf. The pale-green worm goes through four or five moults, gradually growing one and a half inches in length. The larvae then go into a coccoon stage and produce another moth, with the whole cycle taking two to three weeks.

The danger from loopers is that they chew into the heads, defoliating them and leaving holes all through the heads. When the worms get into broccoli, for example, they are impossible to get out, and render the crop inedible.

Home gardeners can expect a bad bout with loopers in August and September. Because the larvae are on the underleaf, spray doesn't normally reach them. Effective control of cabbage loopers depends on spraying the underleaf. Carbaryl (Sevin) 50% W.P. can be used in a mixture of two tablespoons in a gallon of water. Spray at weekly intervals. Do not apply Carbaryl closer to harvest than seven days.



In Samarkand, women used to give babies sugar candy so that when the child grew up his words would be sweet.

Ladies Have You Heard?

By Doris Thomas

MICROWAVES DO MORE THAN BAKE

We call them microwave ovens, but they might better have been named microwave cooking appliances. This is because they handle many top-of-the-range cooking chores as well as bake.

The superb Hollandaise sauce, the lump-free pudding, a speedy start-from-scratch soup, with no burned-on-the-bottom pans, are just a few microwave plusses.

Microwaving means to cook, heat or defrost a wide variety of foods with microwave energy, rather than by heated air or heat transfer as in conventional cooking. The nom de plume "oven," so-called because of its cavity appearance, has left many consumers confused about the advantages and disadvantages of microwave ovens.

For example: Yes, you can boil water in a paper cup, defrost a frozen block of hamburger in 9 minutes, melt chocolate in its wrapper, blanch vegetables for freezing, soften brown sugar in 15 seconds, heat baby's bottle in 45 seconds and reheat leftovers with no loss in flavor or moisture.

No, you cannot deep fat fry, bake a large turkey (over 18 pounds) economically, can fruits or vegetables, create a chocolate souffle or save time cooking cereal, pasta, or rice in the microwave oven.

Before you decide to buy a microwave oven, assess what you can and cannot do with this hot-item appliance. Currently, a wide variety of features are offered at prices ranging from $200 to $700 for a countertop model. Standardization is on its way but so far instructions differ for various manufacturer's models.

TIPS ON SELECTING CARPETING

The popularity of carpeting is at an all time high, and rightly so. Research going on since the 1960's has resulted in more sophisticated synthetic fibers with characteristics engineered to meet every need. Special finishes for soil resistance and static control are increasingly available.

Durability and cleanability have been improved. Best of all, carpeting is one of the few things that offers more value per dollar spent now than 25 years ago. All of this, coupled with the high cost of installing hardwood floors, has resulted in more families opting to carpet their homes.

Before you shop, consider any special needs your carpeting must fill. Room size is the most basic of these. Wall-to-wall carpeting in a solid color or all-over texture can give a feeling of spaciousness to small rooms. Patterned carpets and special carved effects tend to fill up a room and should be used only in large areas.

High-use rooms such as family rooms and high traffic areas such as stairways and halls need highly crush resistant and soil resistant carpeting.

Appropriate color choice also is important. Medium to dark shades of red, brown, blue and green are the best colors for concealing soil. Tweedy effects and two-tone combinations also work well. As short, dense pile is easiest to clean and vacuum. Loop construction shows lint, litter and traffic patterns less than cut pile.

Do not forget to consider the lighting in the rooms you plan to carpet. Sunny rooms may call for carpeting in a cool or deep shade. A dark room may look best with a carpet of a warm tone in one of the lighter shades. If the room will be used in the evening, consider the effect of artificial light.

Look at the furniture in your rooms. Do you plan to replace it or will the room remain much the same except for the carpeting? Carpeting should reflect the character of your furnishings. Plush for example, is rather formal, whereas tweed is appropriate for a more casual atmosphere.

When you start to shop, take your time. Visit as many dealers as possible, comparing prices and cost of padding and installation. Any reputable dealer will allow you to take carpet samples home with you.

Look at your samples under daylight at different times during the day, as well as at night under artificial light. Walk on it to see how it feels and how long impressions remain.

Read lables and ask questions. What fiber is the carpet made of? Does it have any special finishes? Is there a warranty? Warranties on carpets usually state that the carpet is warranted for a given number of years against usual surface wear. The warranty is void if the carpet is improperly installed.

Most dealers warrant the installation for one year. Be sure you know the dealer's terms before you make a purchase. A carefully selected, properly installed and well-maintained carpet should enhance your home for many years.

On being a farm wife

—And other hazards

By JOYCE BUPP

"It's so cool here."

"Doesn't the air smell fresh and clean!"

"Your lawn grass feels so soft."

"Does your corn always grow this tall?"

"I can't believe how green the countryside looks."

Sometimes it takes the comments of a visitor, like the remarks above, to remind us anew of the beauty of our area, which we carelessly take for granted too often.

Stepping from the doorway of a United Airlines jetliner last week, we found ourselves engulfed in the sodden hot air mass that had descended upon the area. Fresh from the no-humidity, alpine-like countryside of Montana, where we had attended a farm cooperative conference, the effect of the muggy air was almost suffocating.

At that moment, I would have debated with those advocates of the 'there's no place like home" philosophy.

Memories of snow-sprinkled mountain tops, soaring hills green with tall pines reaching straight toward the deep blue sky, miles of unpopulated open space and even the monotonous rolling brown Montana foothills studded with sagebrush tugged against the joyful return home.

Then, the arrival a few hours later of south-Texas dairy farm friends renewed my appreciation of our sticky mid-East August weather.

Texans' lawns and gardens had turned brown and crackly weeks ago as the normally-scant July rains missed completely and the environment withered.

Our visitors had toiled long unbearable hours filling silos through the fifteen-day stretch of 100-degree-plus temperatures under an unrelenting sun. Corn, drier and shorter than usual this year, normally only reaches about a six-foot growth.

And then, when the rains finally came to the parched Texas fields in some areas, the clouds dumped moisture at the inch-per-hour rate, wreaking destruction as rivers spilled over their banks and drowned the countryside.

Our friends marvelled over the beauty of rolling fields of lush alfalfa hay and tall tasseling corn. They insisted that the weather, humid and uncomfortable to us, actually felt cool compared to home

Through their visit and appreciation of the richness of the southcentral Pennsylvania landscapes, my eyes were again awakened to the privelege of being a farmer in one of the most highly productive areas of the entire world.

Even the eight-inch stand of lawn in the back yard that patiently waits to be mowed, and the three-foot weeds crowding the cantaloupes have never looked so welcome.

Price Index drops

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The July Index of Prices Received by Farmers decreased two points (one per cent) to 215 per cent of its January-December 1967 average, according to USDA's Crop—Reporting Board. Contributing most to the decrease since June were lower prices for cattle, corn, hogs, soybeans, and lettuce. Higher prices for potatoes, broilers, and eggs were partially offsetting. The Index was 35 points (19 per cent) above a year ago.

Hogs Averaged $45.20 per hundredweight, down $2.50 from mid-June. Cattle, $49.80 per hundredweight were off $1.50. However, calf prices at $59.90 were up 90 cents. Potatoes at $7.41 per hundredweight were up $2.31 from June. Lower prices for sweetpotatoes and dry edible beans were only partially offsetting. Soybeans at $6.37 per bu. were down 32 cents from June, flaxseed at $4.75 was 91 cents below mid-June.

Eggs at 48.3 cents per dozen increased 4.7 cents from June Broilers at 32.8 cents per pound were up 2.6 cents while turkeys at 41.8 cents increased one cent per pound. Wheat at $2.78 per bushel at mid July was down 4 cents from June.

The Index of Prices Paid by farmers was 220 per cent of its 1967 average, unchanged from June but up 17 pts. (eight per cent) from a year earlier.

12 oz. frozen corn
1 pound cooking cheese (chopped fine)
1 small jar olives (chopped fine)
celery salt
onion
salt to taste

Boil noodles in salted water for ten minutes. Drain. Pour into large casserole. Cook ground beef and crumble. Add all ingredients to noodles in casserole. Mix well. Generously sprinkle ground Italian cheese over top. Bake in moderate oven, 350° to 375°F. for 45 minutes to one hour.

SAUSAGE CASSEROLE

1 pound bulk sausage
1 onion, diced
1 green pepper, diced (optional)
1 cup whole kernel corn
2 cups tomatoes
2 cups cooked macaroni
1½ teaspoons pepper
¾ cup buttered crumbs

Brown sausage, chopped onion and green pepper in skillet. Pour off additional fat.

In three-quart casserole alternate layers of meat, macaroni, vegetables and seasonings. Top with bread crumbs. Bake one hour at 350 degrees F. Serves six.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Last month our son Philip and I traveled to Penn State for Orientation Day. We actually made the trip without one wrong turn which was different than the first time we attempted the trip alone. My husband has "maps in his head", according to me, and when he goes along we don't bother about the routes we are traveling.

After being told everything from his chances of succeeding in college to whether or not to bring a bedspread, we met our older son, who is working and studying up there, and had lunch with him. He told me that some nights he must serve as fire police and guard buildings as regular employees are on strike.

We met Philip's advisor before coming home and discussed course selections. He plans to study Agricultural Engineering and has been lucky enough to receive several scholarships for which we are thankful.

He recently returned from a week at Washington, D.C. for the 4-H Citizenship Short Course. He was kept very busy meeting legislators and touring national monuments. He even discovered one of the 4-H'ers, they represented many eastern states, was President James Carter's niece.

While he was gone we had a busy week doing his work too. I told him we almost discovered that we couldn't farm without him. You see, one of our heifers got out of the meadow and completely disappeared. No inquiries with neighbors has turned up a single lead and it has been three weeks now.

Since Philip is home from Washington, he has completed a big picnic table which we delivered to another brother who lives near Downingtown - it is a belated wedding gift. He has an apartment in a 1743 brownstone house and we enjoyed seeing it and visiting him.

'Egg Beaters' trial established

DECATUR, Ga – Judge William O'Kelly has confirmed that trial proceedings for Standard Brands vs. United Egg Producers will begin September 25 at the Northern Georgia Federal District Court in Atlanta.

Egg producer interest and attendance is encouraged. U.E.P. will seek to have producer representation throughout the trial which is expected to last four to six weeks. Anyone interested in attending, should contact the U.E.P. office - 404/288-6700.

U.E.P. has been soliciting funds for the upcoming legal battle and recently raised a total of $40,065.71 as a result of the "Final Touch" Casino Night. Expenses totaled $5,566.25, leaving a net contribution to the Combat Fund of $34,499.46.

Francis Riley, chairman of U.E.P.'s Combat Fund, stated, "I'm delighted with the continued industry support for this litigation against the false and misleading advertising of Standard Brands 'Egg Beaters.' While our original goal was $50,000 we fell a bit short, Linda FitzHugh, Claude Silva and all those who supported this effort are to be commended for their special efforts."

Riley says $15,000 is still needed. Contributions may be sent to: Combat Fund, c/o Francis Riley, United Egg Producers, 3951 Snapfinger Parkway - Suite 580, Decatur, Georgia 30035.

Sept. Order 4 milk price $12.11

ALEXANDRIA, Va. – Middle Atlantic Order Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine announced a Class I milk price of $12.11 per hundredweight for September 1978. Shine said that the price is up seven cents from August and is 68 cents higher than the September 1977 Class I price. Order No. 4 prices are announced for milk testing 3.5 per cent butterfat, f.o.b. plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia, Pa. and also within 75 miles from the nearer of Washington, D.C. or Baltimore, Md. There is also a 6-cent direct-delivery differential applicable to producer milk received at plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia.

Shine announced a Class II milk price of $9.38 per hundredweight for July 1978 and a butterfat differential of 12.4 cents. The Class II price is up 21 cents from the previous month, primarily because of a 14 cent increase in the seasonal adjustment factor.

These class prices are based on the July 1978 Minnesota-Wisconsin manufacturing milk price of $9.33 per hundredweight adjusted to a 3.5 per cent butterfat content.

The USDA reported that the wholesale price of Grade A butter at Chicago for July increased to $1.0794 per pound and the nonfat dry milk price was $.7056 per pound, f.o.b. plants in the Chicago area.

Beef supplies to tighten

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Declining beef supplies – and soaring retail prices – dominate the U.S. food picture this year. The situation may not be unique to the United States, however, as reports from other countries point to an overall decline in world beef supplies during 1978.

Here at home, farmers and ranchers, stung by escalating feed prices, severe weather, and sagging cattle prices, began liquidating their herds in 1975. Since then, the beef cow herd has shrunk from 45.7 million head to only 38.7 million at the start of this year.

Producers now stand at the juncture of the traditional cattle cycle, where rising prices, brought about by smaller calf crops and dwindling beef supplies, signal the start of herd rebuilding. This spells reduced U.S. beef output for the next two to three years, as more cattle are held from market for herd expansion.

Elsewhere around the world, here's how economists size up the beef situation...

Australia, the United States' leading supplier, continues to be plagued by drought and low producer prices. Further herd reduction is seen this year, with total beef and veal production down eight to 10 per cent from 1977.

New Zealand, another top supplier, suffers from drought as well. Beef and veal output could drop seven per cent from 1977. Meantime, three years of unfavorable cattle prices have influenced some shifting from cattle to sheep.

Canada also has been trimming its cattle herd, and a five-per cent reduction in beef and veal appears likely.

In contrast, Mexico is expected to start rebuilding its herd this year, and with fewer animals going to slaughter, beef and veal production may trail last year's mark by two per cent.

Japan may boost domestic output by seven per cent, but buy an increased volume of American beef under a recent U.S.-Japan trade agreement which provides for a 10,000-ton hike in imports of high quality beef.

Production will probably edge higher in the European Community, where increases in West Germany, France, and Italy should more than offset reductions in Belgium, the Netherlands, and United Kingdom.

Herd expansion underscores the USSR meat situation, and as of January 1. 1978, the Soviets had about four per cent more cattle on hand than a year earlier.

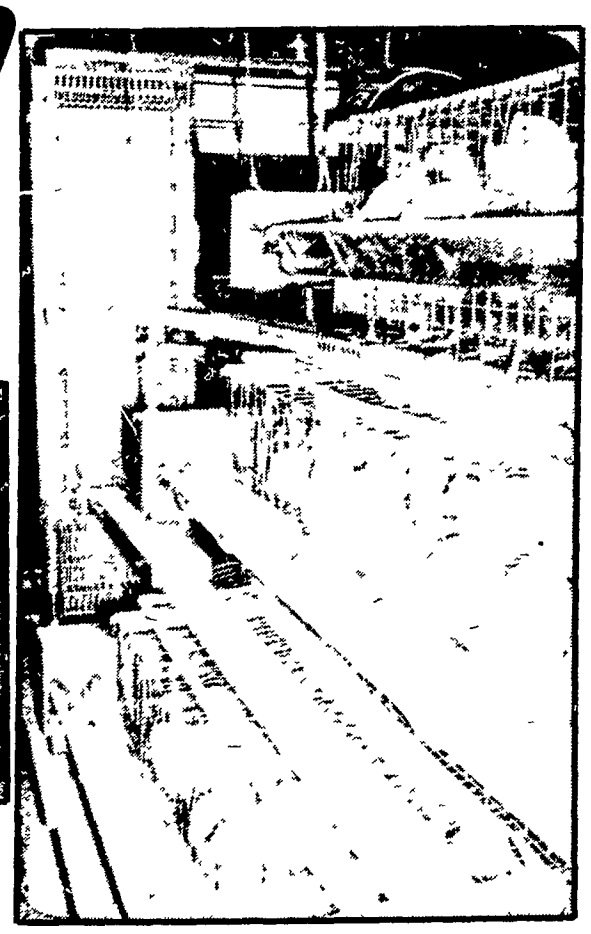
NORTHCO

High Density Work

VINYL DROPPING SHIELDS

eliminate the headaches of dropping boards and dropping board scrapers. Manure slides off the dropping shields and into the pit.



NORTHCO EGG GATHERING

uses plastic coated contact surfaces to move eggs from the cage to processing equipment, gently and efficiently.

THE RELIABLE FEEDER

FEED MIXING ACTION Northco's exclusive core auger mixes feed along the entire feed line to help prevent feed separation There are no hang-up spots where feed can become stale Uneaten feed is carried back to the hopper and mixed with fresh feed

LESS WEAR The core auger floats on a cushion of feed There s virtually no metal to metal contact which means less wear

LESS WASTE A specially designed "feed saver" trough maintains a feed level that is easily accessible to the birds from billing feed out of the trough

VERSATILE Northco's Cage Feeder can be adapted to fit nearly any cage or cage arrangement even vertical or wall-row operations

IT'S A TOTAL SYSTEM

Owners of present Northco Slant-Back Systems are impressed with the way all components of the system work together to increase the efficiency of the total system.

It's Time To Think Silage Treatment

Ensil-ate™

Developed by

MASTER MIX RESEARCH

The Silage Preservative With A Real Difference

WHAT IS IT?

$1 invested for ENSIL-ATE per ton of silage stored can return $3 per ton in added feeding value

ENSIL-ATE is a silage additive designed to

- Reduce Rancidity
- Prevent Oxidation and Over-Heating
- Inhibit Mold Growth
- Increase Palatability of any Ensilage

ENSIL-ATE has its own feed value!

- Protein 11 percent - Fat 2 percent - Fiber 35 percent

ENSIL-ATE adds highly digestible protein and fiber in the form of ground soybran flakes.

ENSIL-ATE prevents initial run off.

- 10 lbs. of Ensil-Ate will absorb 40 lbs. water.

ENSIL-ATE is perfectly safe to use and contains only all-natural proteins.

ENSIL-ATE is backed by leading experimental stations as well as Master Mix Research.

HOW IS IT USED?

ENSIL-ATE requires no additional equipment.

It should be added to your silage at the rate of 10 lbs. per ton. Packaged in 50 lb. paper sacks, each bag will effectively treat 5 tons of silage. Simply spread the bag on the silage wagon before or during filling.

REMEMBER -

You can mix 10 lbs./ton easier and more thoroughly than 1 lb./ton of silage that most additives require.
ENSIL-ATE can also be added as the silo is being filled.

FOR MORE DETAILS ON HOW YOU CAN GET AN AVERAGE ADDED RETURN OF $3 FOR EVERY TON OF SILAGE YOU PUT UP, CALL OR VISIT YOUR MASTER MIX DEALER TODAY!

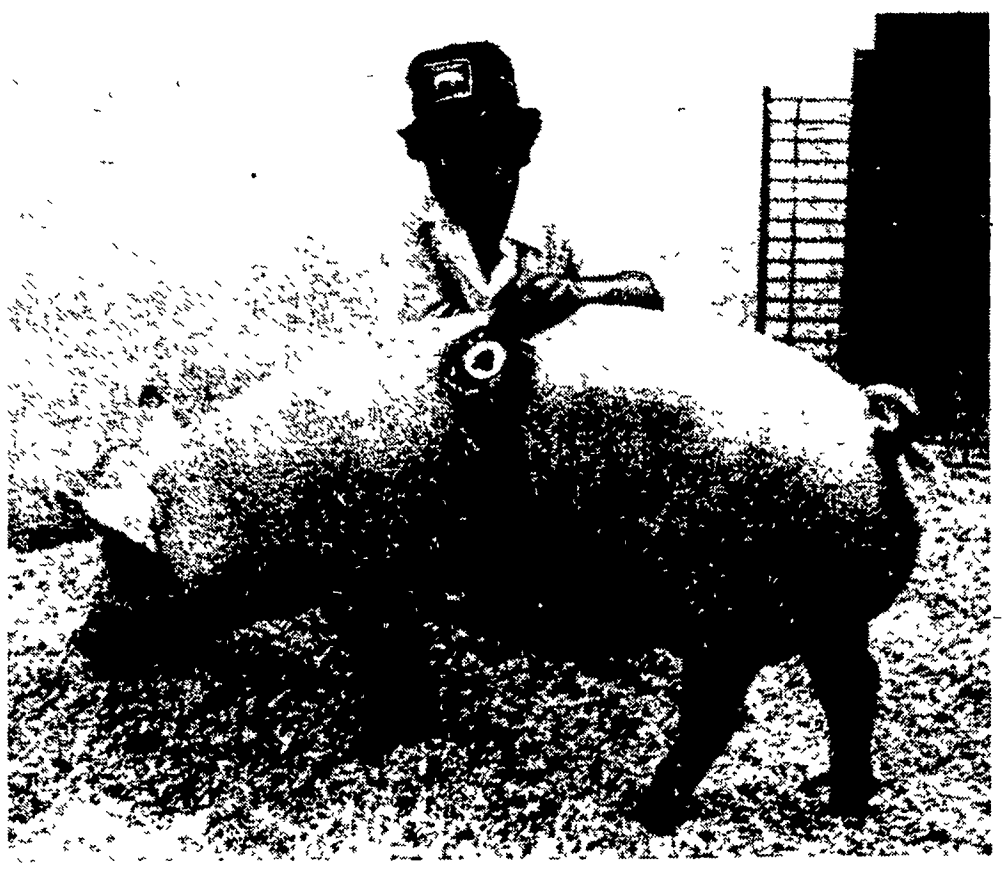
Champions chosen at Lebanon Fair hog show



Thomas Arnold, Lebanon R7 showed his mediumweight hog to the championship spot at the show that was part of the Lebanon Fair.

By KENDACE BORRY

LEBANON -- Thomas Arnold, Lebanon R7, the 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Arnold, took the championship honors in the 4-H and FFA Hog Show at the Lebanon Fair this week. His winning hog was the first place winner in the mediumweight class, weighing about 215 pounds.

Stauffers sweep 7000 lb. class

THE BUCK — Harold, Mark and Amos Stauffer made a clean sweep of it in the 7000 pound super stock class at The Buck Tractor Pulls last week. All three were aboard Deutz tractors, which they, possibly more than anyone else, have made famous in tractor pulling circles.

Driving tractors named "Underdog," "Fido," and "Sneeki Pete," the Stauffers came within less than 18 feet of each other when their respective distances were measured. Coming out on top was Harold Stauffer aboard his 8006. He kept his tractor and the sled moving for 278 feet, 3 inches. His brother, Mark was stopped at 274 feet aboard a 9006, while their father, Amos, trucked along for a distance of 260 feet, 10 inches.

In another close contest, the 7000 modified class, Curtis Stoltz of Myerstown, Don Landis of Berlin, and Eugene Spickler of Elizabethtown battled it out for the top three places. Stoltz won with his effort of 285-2, while Landis and Spickler finished behind him in that order.

The 9000 pound super stock class saw Tom Middleton of Ridgely, Md. win handily over runner-up Marlin Brubaker of Quarryviulle and Mark Stauffer of Ephrata. Middleton, driving an IH 1066, hauled his load for 280-8. Brubaker and his big orange Allis Chalmers D-21 were stopped at 244-6 and Stauffer's "Sneeki Pete" gave out at 239-5.

Dale Smoker of Cochranville kept his A-C 180 scratching for victory and got it at 254-10 in the 5000 pound super stock class. Harold Stauffer placed second with a his Deutz 8006 at 242-3 and Coleman Wheatley of Bethel, Del. finished third at 229-3.

An Allison-Aircraft powered tractor driven by Willard Will of Central City roared to victory in the 9000 pound open class. He found his paydirt at 255-11. Dave Johnson of Deerfield, N.J., driving a rig which springs to life to the tune of three Ford 427 cubic inch engines, placed second at 241-1. Coming in third was Harry Griest aboard "Red Power," an International 1456 which was good for 221 feet, even.

Placing first, second and third, respectively, in the 5000 pound modified class, were Bill Haines of Rising Sun, Md., Curtis Stoltz, and Eugene Spickler. Haines drove an M44 machine for a distance of 193-10 after having gone for a full pull earlier. Stoltz and Spickler also had full pulls on their first attempts, which called for the pull-off.

Stoltz drove a 427 cubic inch Chevy powered "racing tractor" for a distance of 185-5, thus coming within less than 10 feet of Haines' winning distance. Spickler had two 327 cubic inch Chevy engines "under his hood" as he roared on for 160 feet, one inch.

In the heavyweight contest of the evening, Middleton scored his second victory of the day by scoring a tractor puller's touchdown. He kept his powerful, screaming IH 1066 going all the way to the end zone – 300 feet from his starting point. His closest rival in the class, Amos Stauffer, could only grind out 221 feet, while the man in the third slot, Harry Griest, was stopped cold at 42-1.

U.S. corn crop is fair to good

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The U.S. corn crop was rated good to fair during the period July 24 to 30, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported last week in its weekly weather and crop bulletin.

Corn was rated good throughout the North Central states. Silking ranged from 50 to 81 per cent in the eastern part of the region and 36 to 81 per cent in the western part. Only Missouri's crop development lagged very far behind the average, although many states were behind 1977's progress.

In the South, the corn harvest increased in Florida, reached four per cent in Georgia and eight per cent in Texas. More than 50 per cent of the crop was in the dent stage in many southern states. Showers helped some late Georgia plantings but generally southern corn rated only fair.

USDA said soybeans rated good and developed well in North Central states. Pod set ranged from five per cent in Ohio to 10 per cent in Michigan, 15 per cent in Indiana and 30 per cent in Illinois, or five to 20 points off the average in the Eastern North Central region. In the North Central states, pod set ranged from 15 per cent in Kansas to 30 per cent in Nebraska and 41 per cent in Iowa, only 5 to 10 points off the average.

In the South, soybean condition rated only fair to good. Some areas reported stressed stands from dry soils. Bloom ranged from 19 per cent in Arkansas to 63 per cent in Tennessee and Louisiana. A few Georgia farmers planted late beans. Rains helped some stands, notably in Texas.

Area IH dealers attend Red Power Showdown Days

FRYSTOWN – Phil Staudt and Roy Kreider of Swope & Bashore, Inc., the International Harvester dealer located here, recently attended a regional sales meeting held in Cortland, N.Y.

The purpose of the meeting, called "IH Red Power Showdown Days," was to review the features of the IH Series 86 – 100+ h.p. tractors and compare them to competitive models so dealership sales personnel can use the knowledge to better acquaint customers with what they should consider when purchasing a new tractor.

"The meeting was very beneficial," said Phil. "I feel I know a lot more now about the exclusive features of IH Series 86 tractors and will do a better job of informing our customers of the benefits of these features."

Delaware ag editors win ACE awards

NEWARK, Del. – The agricultural editor's office of the University of Delaware's College of Agricultural Sciences took top honors in nationwide competition for their "Farm and Home News Packet". Only two blue ribbons were awarded in the Class 2 category (news releases for weekly papers), and both went to Delaware entries.

The competition was sponsored by ACE (Agricultural Communicators in Education), the national professional association of agricultural college communicators. Seventeen categories were judged overall, including photography, graphic design, radio, film and television. Each category was judged by a panel of qualified professionals in that particular commercial field.

Delaware submitted a total of eight entries in four categories. Seven of the eight received ribbons. Nationally the judges received 360 entries overall. They awarded 278 ribbons, of which 64 were blue.

Delaware won a total of three blue ribbons, two for editions of the weekly news packet and the third for a publication entitled "Longwood Program Seminars", which was designed by graphic artist Monroe Givens.

A number of articles coming from the University of Delaware's agricultural editor's office are printed regularly in Lancaster Farming.

Articles in the winning news packets include: "Big Switch to Irrigation by Delaware Crops Farmers," by agricultural editor Jerry L. Webb; "Don't Rush Season with Soybean Plantings," by assistant editor Doris Henrique; "Longies Are Back in Style," by assistant editor Lynn Hershey; and "Swine Facility Offers Firsthand Look at Confinement System," by former assistant editor Deborah Clayton.

Judges found the Delaware news offerings well-written with specific information and praised the good variety of material.

In the single black and white photograph competition, a red ribbon was awarded to a photograph of a tractor, shot by Jerry Webb and printed by Duane Perry. Doris Henrique also received a red ribbon for a magazine series she submitted.

A pamphlet entitled "Agribusiness and the Quality of Life in Delaware" received a white ribbon.

Presentation of the awards was made at the ACE annual conference held this year in Asheville, N.C. Over 400 ACE members and guests were in attendance.

ACE members are agricultural and home economics information personnel who are affiliated with the land-grant colleges, the United States Department of Agriculture, and their Canadian counterparts. Current membership is approximately 500, including editors, writers, and artists.

In 1979 Delaware will host the professional society's annual conference. The four-day event will be held next July at Clayton Hall Conference Center on the University of Delaware campus.

Kathy Martin named Lancaster Co. poultry queen

LANCASTER – Kathy Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Martin, New Holland R3, was selected the 1978-79 Lancaster County Poultry Queen at a pageant last Friday night at the Farm and Home Center.

Nearly 300 people attended the banquet and pageant in support of the six contestants vying for the right to represent Lancaster County's growing poultry industry.

Debra Mumma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clay S. Mumma, Janet Avenue, Mount Joy was named Alternate Queen.

Seventeen-year-old Kathy was crowned by outgoing queen Beverly Garber, who recounted some of her experiences throughout her reign. Last year's Alternate Queen Christine Erb helped present awards to contestants.

After the crowning, a very happy Kathy said, "I am very surprised. It was a great contest - all the girls were super nice and the judges were very nice." She said she was persuaded to enter the contest by last year's queen. "Bev talked me into it."

Kathy says her family has a "very small" poultry operation of 5500 layers. She hopes to tour local egg facilities to learn more about the industry. "I learned a lot just by entering the contest. They gave us some information and I read other material," she stated.

One of her goals during her year-long reign as poultry queen will be to take the poultry story into elementary schools. "I'd like to introduce eggs to children and make it exciting for children," she explained enthusiastically.

A senior at Lancaster Mennonite High School, Kathy will be a member of the school chorus. She is an active member of Groffdale Mennonite Church where she teaches fifth grade Sunday School, serves as a typist on the church bulletin staff and is active in youth group activities.

As an eight-year member of the New Holland 4-H Baby Beef Club, Kathy is serving as its vice president.

Kathy Martin, the newly crowned Lancaster County poultry queen, is seen sitting on her throne here. She is flanked by Beverly Garber, last year's queen, on the left, while Debra Mumma, alternate queen, is seen on the right.

Judges for the event were Mrs. Alletta M. Schadler, Lebanon County Extension Service Director; Dr. Loy Awkerman, D.V.M., Manheim; and Dr. Robert D. Herr, Narvon R2.

Other contestants included Julie Charles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Harold Charles, Peach Bottom; Rose Geib, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Geib, Manheim R4; Marcia Gibbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth L. Gibbs, Elizabethtown R1; and Judy Landis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Landis, Parkesburg R2.

The Queen Committee included Mr. and Mrs. J. Leroy Esbenshade, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hann and Mr. and Mrs. James D. Hess.

Grover Gouker, Jr., Dale Carnegie Institute, presided as Master of Ceremonies and Cindy Esh provided musical entertainment. She was accompanied by Cheryl Fulmer.

Sewing skills are her special talent

NEWARK, Del. – Dover craftswoman Aileen Elgie can do practically anything with a needle and thread - sewing, knitting, crocheting, needlepoint, and more. Though she's expert in practically every needle craft, she has a special fondness for English smocking, a craft which has traditionally belonged to the working people.

While well-to-do ladies sipped tea and made needlepoint samplers in days of yore, tradespeople invented smocking out of practical necessity. The neat rows of gathering stitches in traditonal English smocking were originally devised to control the fullness of the smocks worn by tradespeople in their daily life. Eventually embroidery was added to make the work clothing more aesthetically pleasing, and each trade developed its own symbol - (for example, wheels on the smock of a wagoner.)

So-called "American smocking" is just surface embroidery without the gathers, and Ms. Elgie doesn't approve. Like so many shortcuts, she says, it's self-defeating, because the embroidery soon washes out and it doesn't look as good as it should. American smocking also lacks the stretchability that is the hallmark of fine smocking.

Ms. Elgie says smocking is a good craft for anyone who sews. It's not as time consuming or difficult as many other handicrafts. Most people could smock a child's dress in about a week, working evenings she says. And one can produce a beautiful baby gift for under two dollars.

Delaware craftswoman Aileen Elgie loves to sew and smocking is one of her special talents.

But smocking isn't just for babies. To prove the point Ms. Elgie is working on a stunning dress for her own daughter – age 23. Incidentally, it was when this same daughter was only two years old that Ms. Elgie first took up smocking, by enrolling in a recreation department course in her native Canada. The family has been well-supplied with beautiful handmade garments ever since.

In fact, each of the five Elgie children, (ranging in age from 10 to 26,) will someday receive two heirloom possessions: a quilt and an Aran (Irish fisherman knit) sweater.

It will take a while till all the gifts are finished, however. Ms. Elgie is a part-time librarian and also teaches many crafts classes. But despite her active life, she still believes in taking time to do things right. Fine yarns, fine needles and tiny stitches pay off in heirloom-quality work, she says. It's unfortunate that so many people are willing to sacrifice quality for fast results. Perhaps they have never even seen the alternative - fine work, done with care.

Del. herb garden open

NEWARK, Del. -- Eighteenth Century botanist Carl Linneaus once said a garden should be "a living library of plants for the public to learn their names, to follow their development, to observe their metamorpheses, and to become acquainted with their smell and taste."

That's exactly the idea behind the new herb garden outside Agricultural Hall at the University of Delaware. Greenhouse supervisor Paul H. Dennison, designer of the garden, says the herbs are in delicate bloom right now. He invited the public to come and find out how colorful, fragrant, and even tasty, an herb garden can be.

Culinary herbs are surprisingly varied in appearance as well as in use. Varieties at Agricultural Hall include the following, (with suggested uses by plant science professor Dr. Richard Lighty):

Horehound, (a member of the mint family which can be made into delicious, throat-soothing candy); Chives (out zip in a dip); Borage, (float the beautiful blue blossoms on a mug of cider or ice water for added refreshment); Dill, (the secret ingredient to great chicken soup); and Monarda, (whose red blossoms are far more appealing to look at than monarda tea is to drink.)

Dennison hopes that many who come to sniff among the parsley, sage, chervil and thyme will go on to plant herb gardens of their own. He notes that herb gardens have existed since Biblical times, but most people today are unfamiliar with these plants that were so important to our ancestors.

Agricultural Hall is located on Route 896 in Newark, across from the Chrysler Assembly Plant. The public is invited to explore the gardens at will. Self-guided tour sheets for the herb garden and the Emily B. Clark Garden will be available in the mailbox along the front drive of the building..

Beams capture top honors at 4-H swine roundup

By KENDACE BORRY

PARADISE — Diane Beam, Elverson R2, showed the grand champion hog last Friday and Saturday at the Chester and Dealaware County 4-H pig show and sale, held at Vintage Sales Stable.

The 16-year-old 4-H'er is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Beam. She has been involved in 4-H for nine years.

Her winning entree in the show was 245 pound crossbred, with Yorkshire, Duroc and Hampshire breeding.

This was Diane's second grand champion hog at a 4-H roundup. She had also had the grand champion at the roundup six years ago.

The animal was sold for $5 per pound and bought by the Vintage Sales Stable. Owner and manager of the stable, L. Robert Frame related that the hog would be returned to a farm where it would be used for breeding purposes.

The reserve champion honors were won by Tim SToltzfus, also of Elverson R2. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Stoltzfus, he showed a 220 pound crossbred. The animal brought $2 per pound on the auction block and was sold to Economy Locker and Storage, Pennsdale.

Nelson Beam, 15, a brother to the owner of the grand champion, showed the champion trio of hogs. The trio of animals averaged 219 pounds and were bought by Hatfield Packing Company, Hatfield, at 75 cents per pound.

The reserve champion trio was also shown by a Beam, Bill Beam, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Titus Beam and cousin to the owner of the champions. The 18 year old 4-H'er sold his trio of animals weighing 228 pounds apiece to Hatfield Packing Company for 80 cents per pound.

Bill Beam was also named the champion senior showman in Chester County, with Nelson Beam being named the reserve champ. This was the fifth time for Bill to be named the champion in the fitting and showmanship class. In the junior division, Rodney Stoltzfus was named champion showman with his brother Scott getting reserve champion honors.

In the Delaware County division of the fitting and showmanship competition, the senior class was won by Keith Bryon, Media, the son of Mrs. and Mrs. C. R. Bryon, Jr. Reserve champion was Don Powers, Glen Mills, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Powers.

The champion junior in Delaware County was Kim Bryon, sister to the winner in the senior division. Henry Paterson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Paterson, Glen Mills, was named reserve champion.

There were close to 100 hogs shown in the 4-H show, competing in six different weight classes.

Judge for the show was Vernon Hazlett, swine herdsman for Penn State.

Twenty-five Delaware County 4-H'ers showed animals and 19 from Chester County entered. There was a total of 14 trios shown.

First place winners in each class included:

Class 1, 165 to 190 lbs., Andy patterson, Glen Mills; Class 2, 195 lbs. Dave Stauffer, Elverson R2; Class 3, 200 to 205 lbs., Keith Bryon, Media; Class 4, 210 lbs., Tim Stoltzfus, Elverson R2; Class 5, 215 to 220 lbs., Scott Stoltzfus, Elverson R2; Class 6, 230 to 240 pounds, Diane Beam, Elverson.

Mildred Seeds wins Jersey show

WEST CHESTER — Mildred Seeds, well-known throughout the area for her champion Jerseys, did it again this year at the Goshen Fair. The Downington area lady won more than a dozen first place ribbons, as well as five of the six championship rosettes, those being for junior, senior, reserve senior, grand, and reserve grand champions.

Bruce Heller of Downingtown was the only exhibitor who was able to break the nearly consistent winning streak of the Chester County woman. Young Heller placed first with his junior calf entry, and wound up with the reserve junior champion. From there on it was Mildred Seeds in first place for the remainder of the show.

Second place ribbons were won by the following exhibitors: Helen McCahon, Downingtown; Elizabeth Wollaston, Toughkenamon; Patricia Jenkins. Toughkenamon; Charles Wollaston, Toughkenamon; Bruce Heller, and once by Mildred Seeds.

Aside from the usual age classes, Mrs. Seeds also won both gets, best three females, dairy herd, produce of dam, and dam and daughter classes.

In the contest for showmanship and fitting for younger exhibitors, Pat Jenkins, Elizabeth Wallaston, and Helen McCahon were tops in showmanship in their respective age categories. Jenkins was in the over 15 group, Miss Wallaston competed among the 12-14 year olds and Miss McCahon was in the 9-11 age group.

In fitting, the champion for those 15 and over was Philip Tischler; Bruce Heller took the honor in the middle group, and Helen McCahon was first again among the youngsters.

Gardeners' Day slated

NEWARK, Del. — A special Home Gardeners' Day is again being planned at the University of Delaware this Summer. The popular educational program, which is sponsored by the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service, will be held on Tuesday, August 15, at Agricultural Hall. In order to accommodate more people there will be two sessions, the first from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. and the second from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Home gardeners attending the sessions will be able to observe actual plantings of some of the current All-American award-winning flower varieties.

They can also take a look at Delaware's mini-vegetable garden. So far this year it has been producing bumper crops of miniature squash and cucumbers, and the cherry tomatoes are also doing very well, according to Delaware extension horticulturist Dr. Charles Dunham.

Other special demonstration features include how to make a simple home plant propagating case, how to plan and construct an herb garden, and how to improve the home lawn.

Extension specialists are also anxious to introduce the public to cloth houses. Dunham says these simple-to-build, inexpensive structures help protect plants against Japanese beetles, caterpillars, and other insects and birds. They also provide plants with a good environment in which they can grow luxuriantly with less than usual need for water.

Home economics extension personnel will be ond hand to offer timely tips on home canning and freezing of fruits and vegetables. Bring your pressure canner lid to be tested for safety.

There will also be a "Plant Clinic". Bring your lawn and garden questions and plant specimens and get expert advice from the extension specialists who will be on hand. A further feature of Home Gardeners' Day will be tours of the ornamental gardens around Agricultural Hall. These include a variety of plants well suited for landscape use.

Both sessions will start in the parking lot behind Agricultural Hall. In case of rain the program will be held on Wednesday, August 16.

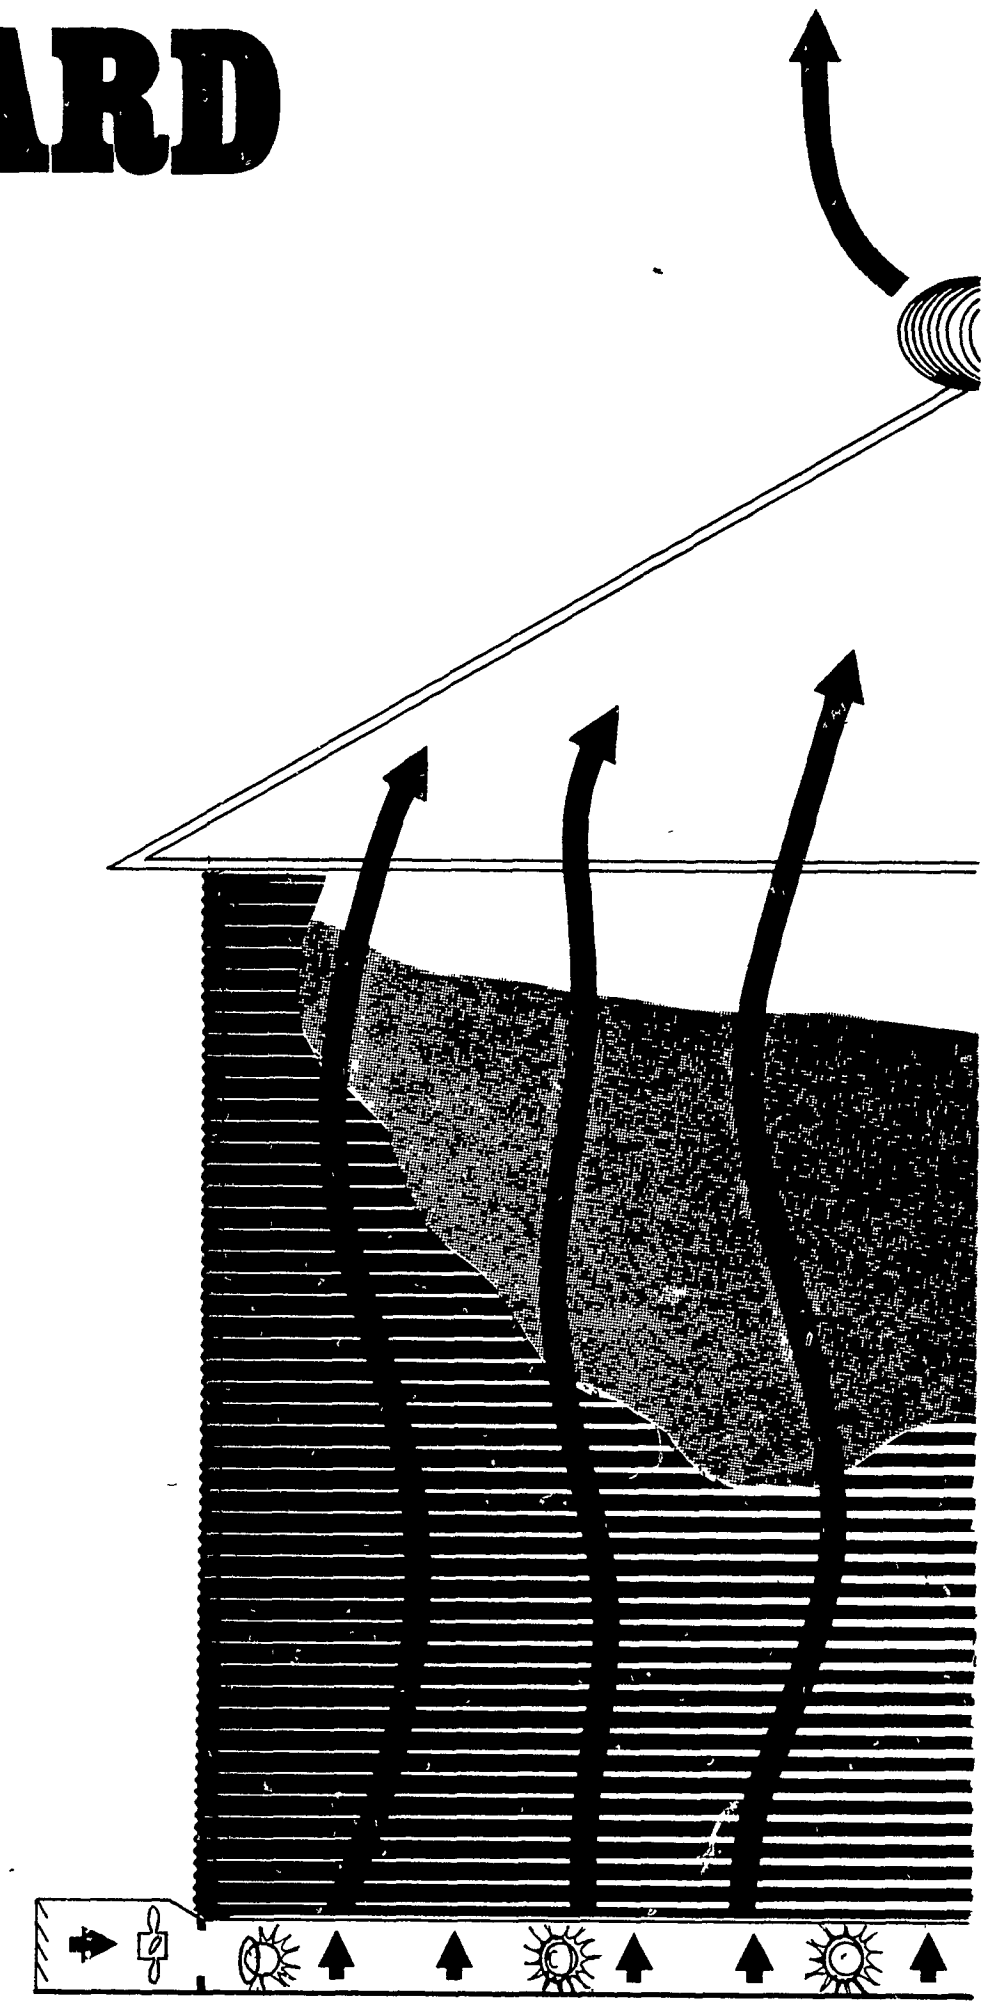
YOU'VE HEARD THE TALK.

There's a better way to dry grain. It's called CHILLCURING™ because it means drying without heat. Here's what the talk is all about.



THE GRAIN

Every kernel of grain is alive when it comes out of the field. It is a seed, able to grow because it has the ability to take on moisture. Likewise, it can be kept in a state of preservation by removing the moisture already in it.

But by heating the grain to dry it, the seed life is destroyed.

By removing heat and moisture from the grain, it becomes dormant, and stays alive. Then it can ripen to full weight, losing only water while keeping valuable protein, starches and sugar.

THE SYSTEM

It's simple. Grain goes from the field right to the bin. With the unique AIRFRAME™ and AIRFLOOR™ the grain rests on a solid bed that allows maximum ventilation.

Clean dry air is the best curing medium for the grain. GRAINLAMPS™ provide electric sunshine, cleaning and drying the air beneath the floor, before it passes through the grain.

Fans force air under the floor. Rising through the grain, this dry outside air carries away moisture and heat.

At the peak of the bin a jumbo 40" turbine, the WHIRLCOOLER™, puts nature to work for you. Wind and rising air keeps it turning, venting the system naturally.

A special HARVESTAT™ Control System monitors the curing process. A simple setting controls the GRAINLAMPS™ to make best use of free, natural air.

THE FACTS

Shrinkage factors vary from 1.25% to 1.75% per point of moisture removed. Drying charges have been from 1¢ to 2¢ per point of moisture removed. This cost will only go up.

In this comparison, grain moisture is 27%.

CHILLCURING™ is right for grain. And right for you. The CHILLCURING™ System pays for itself in about three years. That's what all the talk is about.

Maryland dairy princess crowned

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

COCKEYSVILLE, Md. – "I want people to realize the importance of milk from the standpoint of its nutritional value," advocates the newly-crowned Maryland state dairy princess, Kathy Edwards of Greensboro, who represented Area 8.

A double-title winner, the princess was also chosen Miss Congeniality by the field of contestants during competition July 27 at the Hunt Valley Inn.

Selected runner-up was Jo Garber, Area 5 representative, from White Hall.

Blonde, 23-year-old Kathy will be a sophomore at Salisbury State College, studying for her bachelor's degree in teaching. She plans to take graduate work and teach nursing. A graduate of the Milford School of Nursing, Milford, Del., Kathy has been employed in the emergency division of Beebee Hospital at Lewis, Delaware, and also worked in the psychiatric care unit of Friends Hospital at Philadelphia.

Her nursing background has given Kathy special insights into the milk promotion and usage fields, although she admits that she has not encountered a great deal of controversy over the cholesterol issue.

"Cholesterol in milk is really much less than it's played up to be," she insists. "Quite a number of foods, like cakes and pastries, are high in hidden cholesterol. People must learn to know nutritional values and compare."

Reminding patients that milk really is a natural sedative and encouraging the taking of aspirin with milk, because the fluid lines and protects the stomach, are two ways that Kathy directly relates milk values in her hospital work.

Pageant competitions are not new to the Caroline County young lady. She has taken part in the county farm queen and poppy queen pageants, entering them especially because she enjoys the opportunity to meet new people.

With an active interest in a variety of hobbies, including music, Kathy serves as a volunteer on a telephone counseling hotline at the college. Sports are another favorite of the new princess, who participates in both jogging and weightlifting.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Edwards, Kathy's parents, operate a 45-Holstein dairy herd and are members of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative. Kathy has been a member of the 4-H dairy program and her project cow just recently freshened with a heifer calf.

Jo Garber, the runner-up princess, will be assisting with statewide promotional activities throughout the next twelve months.

A senior at North Harford High School, Jo plans to attend college majoring in speech pathology or biological sciences. She serves on the high school yearbook staff, student government and is a member of the German club. A talented home sewing enthusiast, Jo designs many of the clothes in her wardrobe.

As a 4-H dairy club member for the past eight years, Jo has exhibited her three project animals at area competition and holds offices in the local and county clubs.

Jo and her family, headed by Mr. and Mrs. John P. Garber, were formerly of Virginia and moved to Maryland just over one year ago. They milk 100 head of Holsteins and are members of Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers.

Outgoing princess Joanna Byers who crowned the new winner thanked the state's dairy industry individuals and organizations and noted that she "hoped she had encouraged someone to drink milk."

Contestants in the pageant were required to write and perform an original skit and prepare a three-minute speech as part of the two-day judging at the Hunt Valley Inn.

Selected as winner of the skit performance was Marie Guard, representing Area I. Marie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Guard of Addison and her presentation included an original poem and posters on the milk story.

Sally Gill chaired the state dairy pageant activities. Included in the entrants were: Sarah Jane Litton of Clear Spring, representing Area 2, Kitty Sue Hawker of Middletown, representing Area 3, Beth Bassler of New Windsor, representing Area 4, and Jill Johnson of Gaithersburg, representing Area 6.

Pageant judges were Patricia Langenfelder, a county Farm Bureau president, Eugene Long, manager of Maryland DHIA association, and Nelson McMillan, vo-ag instructor at Hereford High School. Jack Mathews, the executive secretary of the Maryland Farm Bureau, handled the master of ceremonies duties Entertainment was provided by the Towson Valley Sweet Adelines.

Maryland's new dairy princess is Miss Kathy Edwards of Greensboro, Caroline County, shown here seated on a symbolic throne moments after being judged for the honor during the two day contest held at the Hunt Valley Inn. Positioning the crown is Joanna Kay Byers of Washington County who served as dairy princess for the 1977-1978 year. Miss Edwards is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Edwards and presently is attending Salisbury State College. She hopes to pursue a career teaching nursing on the college level. During her reign she will assist Maryland's thousands of dairy farmers call attention to their product, which at the farm level alone, represents a $160 million annual business. Kathy competed with six other girls for the honor in the contest which has become an annual agricultural highlight.

Wool referendum to begin August 21

HARISBURG – Wool and lamb producers will vote from August 21 through September 1 in a referendum to decide if they approve or disapprove of a new agreement between the U.S. Department of Agriculture and The American Sheep Producers Council, Inc.

ASPC conducts wool and lamb market expansion programs under the authority of the National Wool Act of 1954.

Officials of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service said the agreement provides for USDA to withhold part of any wool incentive payments that might be made to producers on 1978-81 marketings to finance ASPC's activities. Deductions would be used by ASPC to finance advertising and sales promotion programs for wool and lamb, and programs to develop and disseminate information on product quality, production management, and marketing improvement for wool and sheep.

The new agreement is similar to one approved in 1974, except that it would authorize larger deductions from producer incentive payments. By approving it, producers would authorize deductions of up to 2½ cents per pound on shorn wool and 12½ cents per hundredweight on unshorn lambs marketed. Deduction rates from 1966 through 1977 were 1½ cents and 7½ cents respectively.

The referendum will be conducted through the county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The county offices will distribute copies of the agreement and ballots to sheep producers in mid-August. Producers may cast their ballots by mailing or delivering them in person to county ASCS offices by the close of the referendum.

Anyone may vote who has owned sheep six months old or older for at least 30 consecutive days during 1977. Votes may be cast by individuals, corporations, or partnerships. Cooperative associations may qualify to vote for all of their eligible members who then would not be eligible to vote in the referendum. The agreement requires approval by two-thirds of the total volume of producers, or two-thirds of the total volume of production represented in the referendum. Procedures for conducting the August referendum and the complete text of the agreement will be published in the July 25th Federal Register. Copies will also be available from ASCS county offices.

Sheep producers have approved the wool and lamb promotion program in six referendums since 1954. In the most recent referendum of 1974, 86 per cent of the producers approved of the program.

Homeowners cut mowing time in half with commercial rider

On the Yazoo pictured above you can mow up to 16 acres in a day You don t follow it with a trim mower It does it all

You can trim under low hanging shrubs in a series of nimble passes many times faster than a man with a walk mower You can cut a clean radius right around a tree-trunk or a pole Trim the edges of ponds embankments curbs Around flower beds pipe stands under benches along walls and fences in and out of ditches In corners In high grass or low Evenly Beautifully Without scalping or skipping

When You're Done Riding, You're Done Mowing.

State Senator Henry Savlor of St Petersburg Florida says Mowing my one acre place was killing my weekends On the advice of some cemetery men I switched from a belly slung rider to the YR 48 Now I cut all my grass including the trimming in forty-five minutes It s fun to drive very responsive

What Commercial Men Say

Commercial turf men tell us their operators hate being shifted from the Yazoo to another machine

The Yazoo is specifically designed for mowing It has front wheel drive It cuts in front where you can see It steers from the rear

Using a simple short throw lever you can move forward or backward or stop with your finger tips and steer with your other hand It s that simple

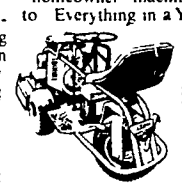
Ken Schoeni who is Superintendent of Athletic Facilities at Bowling Green University Ohio says about one mowing job It used to take two men three days Now one man does it in 1 day and a half on a Yazoo '

W G Buck Siler who is pro owner of Longview Golf Club in Greensboro N C says With the tractor I was using two hand mowers trimming continuously during the season After I got the Yazoo we had one hand mower trimming two to three hours a week '

Commercial vs."Homeowner"

When machines break down wages go on

That s why commercial men don t buy homeowner machines They can t afford to Everything in a Yazoo is industrial grade There is no compromise



In residential use, it should last you a lifetime

What About Price?

Most of the best known homeowner makes will cost you more than a comparable size commercial Yazoo some considerably more

All five Yazoo Commercial Riders are built to the same design

YR 76 YR 60 YR 48 YR 42 YR 36

Your Yazoo dealer will be glad to advise you and let you try one for size on your own grounds

One caution Last year commercial cutters ran the dealers and the factory out of stock in mid season So act now Don't end up in a shotgun marriage with a mower you ll always feel dissatisfied with

Bowed legs in turkeys traced to mutant gene

UNIVERSITY PARK – The problem of "Cowboy legs" or bowed legs in turkeys, serious in the poultry industry, is caused by a mutation or alteration in the genes, declared a scientist from Penn State recently. Dr. Edward G. Buss, poultry geneticist at Penn State, was addressing the 67th annual meeting of the Poultry Science Association at Clemson University, Clemson, S.C.

Dr. Buss declared the mutation, creating bowlegs in turkeys is a single gene trait. He has observed and studied the problem for 29 years. His findings apply to male and female turkeys alive at 24 weeks of age.

He said this hereditary condition, termed bowed-hock of turkeys, can be reduced by applying traditional genetic breeding tests used by geneticists working for commercial turkey-producing firms.

"There may be other factors leading to lameness of legs in turkeys, but genes are a major factor for this bowed-hock situation," Dr. Buss affirmed.

The genetic factor even produced the bowed-hock condition among turkeys of the smaller varieties, he pointed out. This is significant, he added, since bowed-hocks have been commonly associated with excessive weights in today's larger breeds of turkeys.

Although mostly a problem with male turkeys, bowed-hocks appear occasionally in females. Dr. Buss claimed the tendon is abnormal rather than the hock joint. And he indicated that tendons of bowed-hock turkeys have a rough surface compared to tendons of normal turkeys.

Dr. Buss and associates at Penn State are now making chemical assays of turkey tendons to find chemical differences, if any, between bowed-hock turkey tendons and those of normal turkeys.

Chambersburg boy wins champion fitter award

CHAMBERSBURG -- Kirby Shoemaker, a sophomore vocational agriculture student of Chambersburg Area Senior High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Shoemaker of Chambersburg R9, was awarded the champion fitter award at the South Central FFA District Dairy Show held on August 2 at the Shippensburg Fair Grounds.

FFA youths from Adams, Cumberland, Franklin, and York Counties exhibited their FFA dairy projects in hopes of receiving a blue ribbon.

Awards were presented in three categories: showmanship, fitting, and type.

Showmanship is judged on how the student is groomed plus how he or she shows his or her animal to the judge.

Fitting is judged on the basis of the cleanness of the animal and the neatness of its grooming.

Type is the judging of the animals against one another in the same age bracket, with these blue ribbon winners going to state competition in Harrisburg.

Kirby received blue ribbons in all three categories along with being named champion fitter of the show.

John Moore, also of Chambersburg FFA, received blue ribbons in all the categories along with exhibiting the grand and reserve grand champion Guernsey.

Chambersburg FFA President William DeHart received a red ribbon for his Holstein calf.

Champions picked for Lebanon FFA colored breed shows

LEBANON — Members of Lebanon County FFA chapters with colored breed cows, calves and heifers had an easy time of it Tuesday as they brought their animals into the show ring. Although this year's dairy entries were substantially above previous years, and an additional tent had to be erected, the competition was generally anything but stiff.

In the Ayrshire contest, two exhibitors, Shawn Hernley of Lebanon and Ann Weaver of Fredericksburg shared the top honors, with each exhibiting blue ribbon non-milking females.

Gary Mase, 1635 Colebrook Road, Lebanon, swept away all the champion ribbons in his division. The young man was nearly as successful in the 4-H Brown Swiss show, where he also had the grand champion. In the 4-H contest, Mase came to the Fair with a junior yearling, 3-year old, and 4-year old.

The grand champion Jersey in FFA competition at the Lebanon Fair was shown by William Hoffman of Newmanstown.

Winners in the Guernsey exhibition were Susan Heilinger, junior champion, senior and grand champion; Ken Arnold, reserve senior and grand champion; and Dennis Hackman, reserve junior champion.

Miss Heilinger, who hails from Newmanstown, brought a 3-year old daughter of Bushy Park Jules Moonshot into the ring for the coveted grand champion rosette. Arnold's reserve champion, a 2-year old, was sired by Brooknook Momentos Starfire.

In the Jersey show, Marilyn Deaven of Fredericksburg and William Hoffman of Newmanstown shared all the honors. Miss Deaven had the two top animals among non-milking females exhibited, as well as the reserve grand champion. Hoffman exhibited the senior and grand champion.

Gary Mase dominated the Brown Swiss show in both 4-H and FFA competition, winning the grand championship in both rings and sweeping all of the top placings in the FFA division.

Sire Power Sale averages $3340

KUTZTOWN -- The Steinhauers Elevation Dee, a Round Oak Rag Apple Elevation daughter, topped the 1978 Sire Power Sale August 2 when she sold for $15,000. Sylvia Mueller from St. Charles, Ill., outbid top contender William Pettit and family from Huff 'n Puff Farm, Juliustown, N.J. for the right to take "Dee" home.

"Dee" is classified VG (87) and has a 3 year old production record of over 30,000 pounds of milk in 346 days. She was consigned by John G. Gilliland from Gillbrook Farms, Warriors Mark.

Held at Kutztown, the 1978 Sire Power Sale averaged $3339.44 on 71 cows and heifers – the highest ever in the eight year history of the sale. Forty-one head were sold by auctioneers A. Doty Remsburg and J. Austin Backus for $3,000 or more and averaged $4177. Buyers from coast to coast, attended the sale.

Ameilo Curti, Curtmaid Farms, Waukena, Calif., bought the second high selling Holstein, a bred heifer, "Tri-Day Foxy Lady", from Tri-Day Farm, Damascus, Md., for $8200. "Lady" is sired by Arlinda Jet Stream and is due in September. Five Jet Stream daughters were sold for an average of $3430.

Another Elevation daughter, "Y-Brookside Elevation Nelly", was third high selling animal. Carl Yoder, Elverson, and Henry Stoltzfus, Morgantown, bought her from Mark S. Yoder, Belleville, Pa., for $6500. "Nelly" is classified Excellent and projected at over 20,000 pounds of milk in her third lactation. The 53 Elevation daughters in the Sale averaged $3457.

Sire Power Sale '78 was sponsored by Sire Power, Inc. and its member cooperatives: Northeastern Breeders Association, Maryland Artificial Breeding Cooperative, and West Virginia Artificial Breeders Cooperative.

Consignors were all cooperative members who use technician or direct herd service. All consignments had to meet high type and production standards and be sired by Sire Power bulls. Other Sire Power bulls represented at the sale included Job, Fury Ivan, Transmitter, and Charmcross.

Grain storage capacity noted

WASHINGTON, D.C. – There are facilities to store more than 16.9 billion bushels of grain in the United States, according to a preliminary report of a survey conducted by two agencies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The total grain storage capacity as of April 1, 1978 includes 9.9 billion bushels on-farm and almost 7 billion bushels off-farm commercial storage. On-farm storage includes 8.1 billion bushels of space to store shelled corn, other grain and oil seeds, 1.1 billion bushels for permanent ear corn storage and 0.7 billion bushels for wet storage of high moisture grain.

The on-farm total includes the 665 million bushels of storage built by farmers since the beginning of 1977 under the farm storage facility loan program operated by USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

On-farm storage data were gathered by ASCS. Commercial facilities were surveyed jointly by ASCS and USDA's Economics, Statistics and Cooperative Service.

Pork princess pushes pork to popularity

By DIETER KRIEG

HARRINGTON, Del. — The National Pork Queen, 20-year old Tammy Moerer of Johnson, Neb., made her first trip to the Middle Atlantic area recently when she visited the Delaware State Fair, here, to promote the pork industry. While here she met with such dignitaries as Delaware Governor Pierre "Pete" DuPont, all the while proclaiming the goodness of pork.

Serving as the good will ambassador for the National Pork Producers Council, Miss Moerer is traveling all around the country to help the industry. Later this month (Aug. 22-24) she will be at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium, and, if invited, she may come to the Keystone Exposition in Harrisburg which is held annually in early November.

Miss Moerer's visit to the Fair, here, was timed to coincide with the first ever Sale of Champions, which was open to any youth 18 and under. The champion market hog was subsequently auctioned off for $3.00 per pound, with Thomas England of Smyrna coming up with the high bid for the 226 pound purebred Yorkshire. It was owned and exhibited by Ernie Skaggs of Claymont, Del. (Please see separate article and pictures on hog sale elsewhere in this issue of Lancaster Farming.)

The reserve champion was shown by Chris Marchek of Seaford, Del. who exhibited a York-Duroc crossbred weighing 212 pounds. It sold for $2.45 per pound to Penn Packing Co.

A student at Kearney State College in Nebraska where she is majoring in public relations, Miss Moerer's primary responsibilities center around consumer understanding of pork. The NPPC, which awarded the young lady with a scholarship after she was chosen National Pork Queen, says of her talents and background:

"Her interest in public relations is serving her well as she travels around the country telling consumers about 'today's new pork.' Tammy stresses the variety of pork cuts available to the consumer and the variety of ways to prepare them. And for today's weight-conscious society, she points out that an average serving of pork contains less than 70 calories per ounce."

For those interested in obtaining more information about pork, including recipes, from Miss Moerer and the NPPC, they may do so by writing to: National Pork Producers Council, 3715 Grand Avenue, DeMoines, Iowa, 50312. All of the recipes and other information are available free of charge.

Miss Moerer, a slender blonde who was raised on her parents' hog farm in Nebraska, says she accepted the challenge of running for Pork Queen because she was dissatisfied with the image many people have of the swine industry.

An enthusiastic girl, she explains: "I competed for the title because I am proud of my parents' occupation. My biggest gripe has always been that people in general put the hog industry and its products down. I decided to promote what I believe is a proud part of my life. I'd like better representation of the pork industry in such forums as talk shows. Media relations and public understanding need to be improved on the local, state and national levels."

Now, as National Pork Queen, Miss Moerer has the opportunity to help better the pork producers' image. Part of her duties take her to radio and television studios where she records messages on behalf of the NPPC's 80,000 farmer-members. It is the nation's largest commodity organization.

In talking about the new image of pork, Miss Moerer points out such facts as pork being 98 per cent digestible, and that the meat is lean, low in calories, very nutritious and very versatile. "There are a lot of wives tales floating around about pork, and we have to erase them," the yound lady from Nebraska proclaimed.

Miss Moerer credits the improvements in pork production and subsequently better quality meats to advances which have been made in breeding, feeding, and performance testing. "We now have a longer, leaner hog; pork isn't too fatty," she said.

The National Pork Queen also likes to talk about cooking techniques, noting that any pork dish cooked at an internal temperature higher than 170 degrees Fahrenheit is "overcooked." Such special topics as outdoor cooking, grilling, and micro-wave cooking are also in her repertoire.

Working as a full-time staff member of the NPPC, Miss Moerer is "pushing pork" on behalf of pork producers everywhere.

"Jack Kling, who is in charge of the hog exhibits, shows, and sales at the Delaware State Fair, commented: "We're very happy to have her in Delaware. It's the first time ever that we've had a National Pork Queen at the Fair. I believe she was well received too.

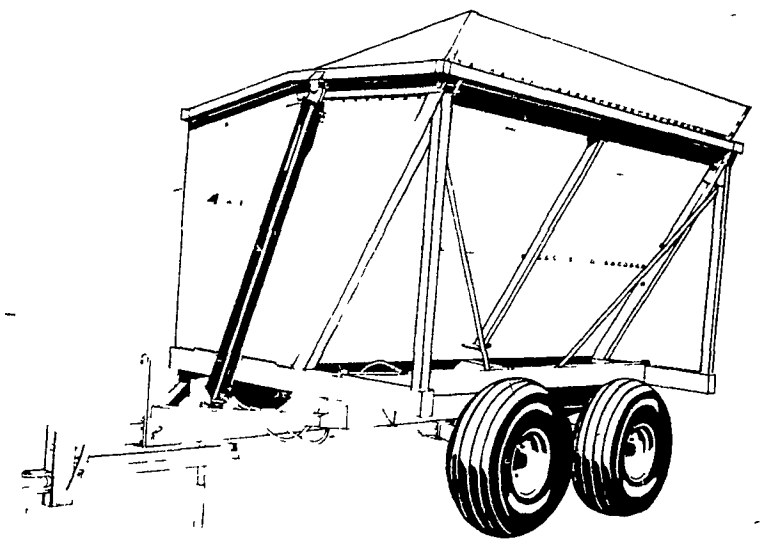
SAVE TIME AND MONEY MOVING CROPS



Whatever your tough hauling job may be, save time, labor and equipment costs with an Avco New Idea Hydaulic Dump Box.

Choose from two styles and three box sizes for rapid transfer and easy handling of material. New Idea offers three types of running gears: single, tandem or 4-wheel auto-steer. Ideal for seed corn, sweet corn, corn silage, haylage, shelled corn, small grains, sugar beets or dry chop materials. One all-purpose dump box will reduce your material transfer time and improve transport vehicle and driver efficiency.

YOU GET MORE HAY AND BETTER QUALITY HAY WITH THE MODEL 299 MOW/DITIONER

It does three jobs for you in a single pass — cuts a full 9 feet 3 inches, conditions and swaths or windrows — under just about any field condition.

The "Quick-Response" header flotation means less damage to guards and sickle on rough fields, and gives you more hay by maintaining a uniform stubble height.

Not only are you saving time, you're making higher quality hay with minimum damage to the valuable, nutrient-loaded leaves.

The "Spiral Press" conditioning rolls run lug-on-lug to intermittently flatten stiff plant stems and is gently to tender leaves and short stems.

Maintenance is quick and simple, so you can spend more time in the field.

Put all of these things together, and you'll see why Mow/Ditioners are making sense to more and more farmers.

Rugged cutterbar gives you long life. The cutterbar is formed from one piece 3/8-inch steel and welded to the deck sheet to form a box section for maximum strength.

Adjustable windrow shields match drying and pickup width requirements. Convenient handles adjust either shield independently. A quick-adjust swath deflector slows and fluffs material for better air circulation and fast drying.

High-flotation tires distribute the weight evenly and because they are located up close to the machine center of gravity, they provide excellent balance and weight distribution to minimize sidedraft.

"Quick-Response" header flotation means uniform stubble height and minimum guard and sickle damage in each of six cutting positions. A unique pivot arrangement on the main frame, combined with the up-close position of the low profile, high flotation tires, quickly raises the cutterbar over obstacles. This design simply scissors the tongue and main assembly with the help of two adjustable springs.

Four-bar pickup reel lifts downed crop for a quick, clean cut, then sweeps it uniformly, butt first, into the conditioning rolls.

Wobble box knife drive gives fast cutting action for field travel — up to 8 mph.

Disc-type slip clutch provides complete drive line protection against shock and overloading.

Overrunning clutch protects both the gear box and the tractor from sudden deceleration.

Kirby Horst wins Lebanon Fair dairy honors

By DIETER KRIEG

LEBANON — Kirby Horst, a 1977 graduate of Eastern Lebanon County High School's FFA chapter, has numerous distinguished accomplishments to his credit. One triumph which had eluded him for years, however, was the grand champion banner at the Lebanon Fair's annual Holstein show. A young man who owns a herd of registered Holsteins which he keeps on his father's dairy farm, winning the Holstein show is a victory he had been striving for. On Tuesday of this week his dream came true. Not just once, but twice.

Kirby Horst, who until recently served as an officer in the State FFA Chapter, won both the FFA and 4-H Holstein shows. He won the 4-H contest with a red Holstein, Ed-Min Sparky-red, a 5-year old daughter of C Romandale Shalimar Magnet. His champion in the FFA division was Showerdale Reflection Roburke, a 6-year old daughter of Penn-Gate Reflection Admiral.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin B. Horst of Newmanstown, the youth is active in the dairy business on his parents' farm. His entries of the show were shown in open classes on Thursday, results of which were not available at the time this article went to press. Please refer to the front section of this newspaper to learn of the open show's placings.

Finishing second to Horst in the FFA Holstein show was Reid Hoover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Hoover, Lebanon. The runner-up in the 4-H contest was Michael Bare, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hershey Bare, Lebanon. For further details on the 4-H dairy shows at the Lebanon Fair, please refer to other articles in this issue. Henceforth this article will deal solely with the FFA Holstein show results.

Reid Hoover, a member of the Little Dutchman FFA Chapter at Annville-Cleona High School, from which he graduated last June, has been interested in dairy cattle for years and is pursueing a dairy cattle career on his parents' farm. His reserve grand champion here this week was Cyland Vivian Elevation, a 2-year old daughter of Round Oak Rag Apple Elevation. The same animal also stood as reserve senior champion, being second to Horst's cow which was number one in that category as well.

Junior champion honors belonged to Barry Donmoyer of Annville who exhibited a junior yearling sired by Junell Ivanhoe Chief Charlie. The reserve ribbon was presented to Gary Lentz, Lebanon, who brought a senior yearling into the ring. She was sired by Carnation First Million.

Placings of the classes follow:

Junior Calf - 1. Art Sweinhart, Fredericksburg; 2. Barry Donmoyer, 3. Daryl Balmer, Lebanon.

Maulfairs, Mase, Hackman and Bomberger claim top titles in Lebanon Fair dairy shows

LEBANON — Diane Maulfair, Gary Mase, Dennis Hackman, and Sue Bomberger all left this year's Lebanon 4-H Dairy Show with championship honors. Their respective shows were held Tuesday afternoon at the Lebanon Fair.

Following are the results by breeds and classes.

AYRSHIRES

The Ayrshire show belonged to the Maulfairs, as they maintained a tradition which dates back to the 1960's. Exhibiting this year's grand champion was Diane, 17, who brought a 6-year old daughter of Oak Ridge Flashy Klondike into the ring Her younger sister, Elaine, was at the halter of the reserve champion, also an aged cow. Both of their animals also stood first and second, respectively, in the selection for senior champion. The daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maulfair, Jonestown, Diane and Elaine are members of a family which has a long tradition of winning in Ayrshire shows.

Champion Ayrshire exhibitors at this year's Lebanon Fair were Elaine and Diane Maulfair of Jonestown. Diane, right, had the grand champion, while her sister took the reserve banner. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maulfair.

Diane Maulfair captured additional honors and ribbons in the junior champion selection as well, winning the top spot with her junior yearling, and the second position with a senior calf. With all six of the major titles in hand, the Maulfair girls made the 1978 Ayrshire show at the Lebanon Fair another family affair. Only two first places eluded them.

Ann Weaver of Fredericksburg exhibited the first place intermediate calf, and Heather Hernley of Lebanon had the top 3-year old. The Maulfair girls also relinquished a second place in the junior yearling category to Ronald Weaver of Fredericksburg.

BROWN SWISS

Gary Mase, 16-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mase of 1635 Colebrook Rd., Lebanon, kept his winning ways intact by showing the grand champion of the 4-H Brown Swiss show. He captured the honor with a 3-year old daughter of Roselawn Topsy's Topper. Owner of six Brown Swiss, the young dairy enthusiast hopes to continue building a herd of his own and has definite plans of entering the dairy business after finishing his formal education. His win here on Tuesday marked at least the fifth consecutive year that he won the championship. The reserve honor went to Franklin Hoffman of Newmanstown.

(Turn to Page 123)

Showing both the grand and reserve grand champions in the Lebanon Fair's 4-H Jersey show was Sue Bomberger of Annville. Her champions were sired by S.S. Quicksilver of Fallneva and Eastwood Surprise Milkboy, respectively.

Dennis Hackman, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hackman, Newmanstown, had the grand champion in 4-H Guernsey competition at the Lebanon Fair.

Family Farm Development Act included

Carter signs Ag Credit Bill

WASHINGTON -- President Carter has signed the Agricultural Credit Act of 1978, doing so in the White House Rose Garden on August 4. This legislation, now law, is to relieve the credit crunch many farmers are experiencing due to low farm prices and high operating costs.

Also, Title 4 of the Family Farm Development Act (H.R. 10716) was attached to this bill and is now law. This title contained an innovative, FmHA ownership loan program for small farmers and farm production cooperatives, at low-interest, low-payment levels.

Representative George Brown, (D-Calif.), sponsor of the Family Farm Development Act was elated over this turn of events. "Small farmers have been ignored in recent years. Their credit needs have gone unaddressed due to a lack of interest and recognition of their contribution to our agricultural system", Brown said. "There are 1.6 million farmers with less than $20,000 in gross sales. Until now these farmers were turned away by private and public lending institutions alike. They now have somewhere to go."

The small farm loan program will provide – 1) farm ownership loans at low, 5% interest levels; 2) a system of ballooned payments whereby a farmer can pay less principal and interest at first with the difference amortized in later years; 3) funds for farm production cooperatives and small farmers, otherwise unable to obtain credit through other private and public sources.

The National Family Farm Coalition, an organization of groups and individuals established to move the Family Farm Development Act through Congress, applauded this happening. "The future of our agricultural system and our rural communities may be in the hands of our small farmers," a spokesperson for the Coalition said. Brown agreed strongly. "Costs of large-scale, energy-intensive farming will continue to go up as our soil condition erodes in the coming decade. The small family farmer, who is closer to the land and his community, represents an alternative to this highly mechanized form of farming which should be scrutinized closely", Brown said.

This small farm loan program is one of nine titles in the Family Farm Development Act. This Act attempts to support the maintenance of a strong family farm system of agriculture through amendments of the tax structure, price support systems, conservation practices, marketing programs, research and education programs. Brown hopes to move the remaining eight titles of the bill through the Congress next year.

U of D farm and home field day scheduled

NEWARK, Del. – The University of Delaware's annual Farm and Home Field Day has been scheduled for Wednesday, August 9 this year, at the University Substation, located six miles west of Georgetown on the Laurel-Georgetown Highway (Route 9). Activities begin at 9:30 a.m. and include features of interest to both the farmer and the homemaker.

Farmers will have a chance to tour corn, soybean, vegetable and ornamental research and demonstration plots as well as the University's swine facility. Researchers and Extension personnel will be on hand to discuss their work as well as to lead the bus and wagon tours. They will acquaint farmers with some of the Agricultural Experiment Station's and Cooperative Extension Service's innovative efforts on behalf of improved farm production in Delaware.

The home economics program will include a 10:00 a.m. "Back-to-School" fashion show in the Substation meeting room. There will also be a smocking demonstration and an exhibit of clothing that children can easily manage by themselves.

A traditional fried chicken lunch will be available in the grove at noon. Tickets cost $2.50. The day's activities close with a watermelon break at 3:30.

4-H club meets

VIRGINVILLE – The Virginville dairy and swine club held its monthly meeting on July 17, at the home of Alton Rohrbach.

The winners for the Berks County Junior Holstein Club field day were named. The 8-10 year old in fitting was Henry Seidel who got third, 11-12 year old in fitting was Todd Miller who placed second, 11-12 year old showing was Todd Miller who received second, 13-14 year old in showing was Jan Adam who got fifth, and 13-14 year old in fitting was Terry Snyder who also received fifth.

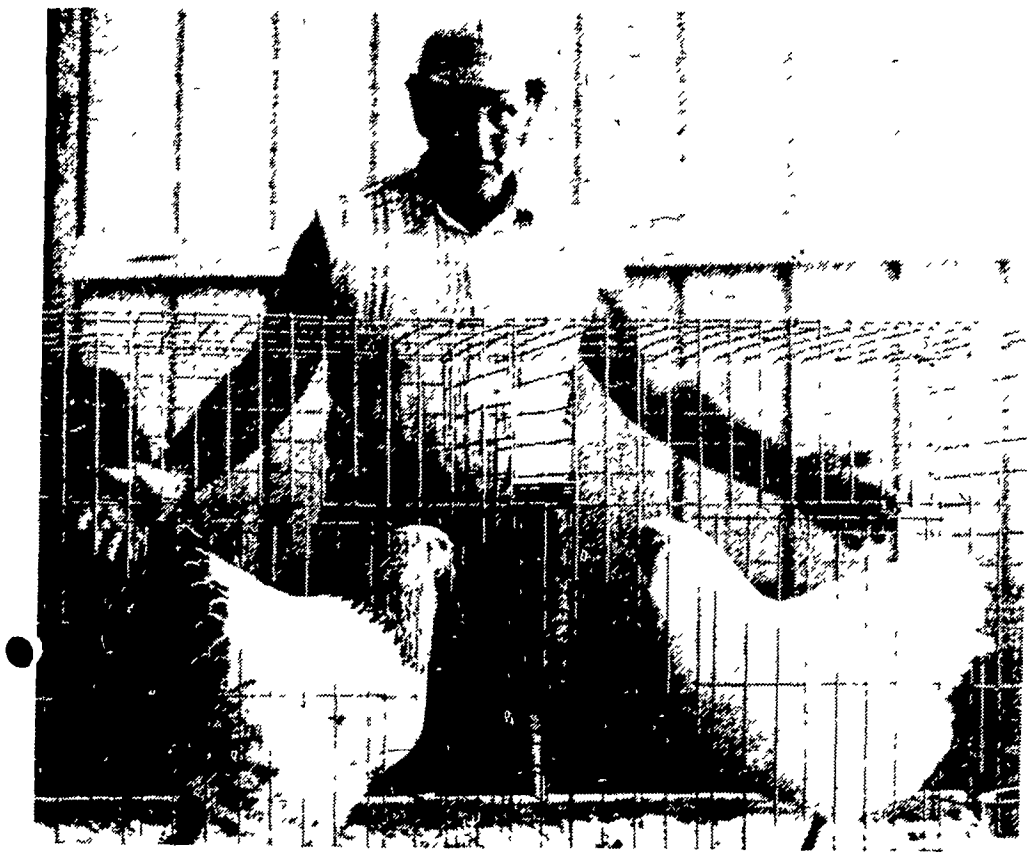
Behney and Miller show poultry champions



Fancy birds, such as these champions -- a light Brahma hen on the left and a White Rock hen, right -- have put a world of satisfaction into Harold Miller's hands.

By DIETER KRIEG

LEBANON — There were a lot of entries in the poultry exhibit of the Lebanon Fair this year. There always are, thanks largely to the fact that one of the best known breeders of fancy and exotic poultry in the country was a Lebanon Countian – Henry Miller, who died two months ago at the age of 76. Despite his death, however, the show and competition was acclaimed a success. The hundreds of exhibits were even housed in a brand new, spacious multi-purpose building.

But there were few, if any, surprises

The team of Harold Miller and Ronald Behney were once again awarded a major portion of the blue ribbons and highest honors. The birds were judged by Curtis Oakes of Cochranton, a former pupil of the deceased Miller.

Harold Miller, a nephew of the elder Miller, credits much of his success to the Contesting for junior champion honors were Bruce Heilinger and Franklin Hoffman. Heilinger, who hails from Newmanstown, edged the Hoffman youth, thus keeping the latter in the reserve limelight twice in one day.

Other first place ribbon winners in the show were: Michael Kunkle, Jonestown, and Patti Heilinger, Newmanstown.

GUERNSEYS

Dennis Hackman, 17, was the victor among Guernsey exhibitors. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hackman, Newmanstown, he edged an entry by Dale Smith of Annville. The champion cow is a 2-year old daughter of Kellogg Nance Prince.

Winning the junior champion title was Bill Dickinson of Manheim who brought a senior calf into the ring. Tom Smith of Annville had the junior champ, a senior yearling.

JERSEYS

The show's only double winner was Sue Bomberger of Annville who had a pair of stylish bovines which received the nod for first place from the judge. Senior and grand champion was her 3-year old, while her aged cow was chosen as the reserve champion on both counts.

Heather Hernley won the junior champion honor, besting an entry from Bill Hoffman who picked up the reserve champion ribbon.

Also showing a first place animal at this year's Lebanon Fair 4-H Jersey Show was Mark Deaven of Fredericksburg.

DEALER INQUIRIES INVITED

Carla Vanderwende, 18, of Bridgeville, assumes crown - and job of telling people of Delaware about advantages of milk and milk products. The U of D sophomore was crowned during dairy industry festivities at recent Delaware State Fair in Harrington.

Dairy princess crowned at Del. State Fair

HARRINGTON, Del. – If a pert young woman starts telling you impressive facts about milk and dairy products at a "Moo-In" somewhere this coming year, chances are she's Carla Vanderwende, 18, Delaware's newest Dairy Princess. Carla, a sophomore at the University of Delaware, was crowned during dairy industry festivities at the recent State Fair, here.

A major in agricultural economics, the new princess ought to know what she's talking about when she promotes the popular white liquid. She hails from one of the state's most successful dairy farms–a Bridgeville operation run by her father, William Vanderwende, and three brothers.

As Delaware Dairy Princess, Carla will represent the industry at various state events throughout the year. She will make radio and television appearances as well, and plans to promote dairy products at shopping malls and grocery stores.

This year for the first time there'll be someone else on hand to share in all this promotional effort. Alternate princess is 16-year-old Kathy Beattie of Newark. Kathy will be a senior at Newark High School this Fall. She is active in her local 4-H and FFA groups.

Sponsored by the Delaware Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA), the annual statewide contest is part of their program to publicize the dairy industry. The new princess received a $300 cash prize.

start he received from his uncle. "I started with eggs that were given to me by Uncle Henry," the champion poultry exhibitor recalled. He has been active with the hobby and business for 10 years now, and insists that to do good in it, one has to work with it. Harold Miller, like his uncle, is devoted to his feathered friends. Also, like his uncle, he has shown his birds all over the country and has won considerable acclaim of his own. Among other duties, he is currently the vice president of the American Brahma Club.

A bachelor, Harold lives on a dairy farm near Myerstown, where his main source of income is from the sale of milk and dairy animals. His diversified interests are part of the reason he and other members of his family have decided to disperse Henry Miller's flock of fancy and exotic fowl. Some 1500 of his birds will be sold at auction on August 19, beginning at 10 a.m. It is thought to be the first such sale in this part of the country, possibly the entire United States, says Miller. Visitors and bidders are expected from all over the nation.

Exemplifying the quality of the birds which Behney and Miller exhibit annually are this year's grand champion among large fowl -- a light Brahma hen, and the reserve grand champion among large fowl – a White Rock hen. Miller showed both with pride, telling of their fine coat of feathers, well balanced and structured bodies, good condition, sparkling clean colors, and desirable type.

Behney and Miller showed the top three birds in the large fowl division, which is the area they specialize in.

In the Bantam show, the grand champion was exhibited by Melvin Bollinger of Elizabethtown. Russell Minnich of Kutztown had the reserve champion and the third best was shown by Melvin Bollinger. The best display of large fowl and Bantams was entered by Minnich.

The show honors returned to the Behney and Miller team when the judging of water fowl took place. One of their Brown China ganders was chosen as the grand champion, while the reserve champion distinction was given to a White Mascovy drake.

The head of the poultry department at the Lebanon Fair, Miller would like to see an increase in youth competition in fancy poultry. He is hopeful that the sale on Aug. 19 will help spur interest among FFA'ers and 4-H'ers, as well as adults. According to arrangements being made for the sale, 12 breeds of bantams, 15 breeds of ducks, 40 breeds of standard poultry, 10 breeds of geese, several incubators and numerous show coops will come under the auctioneer's gavel. The auction will be held at the former Henry Miller homestead, known as Blue Stream Farm, located at 1922 Quarry Road, north of Lebanon.

Blouch wins goat show

LEBANON — Brian Blouch of Lebanon is owner of this year's grand champion of the Lebanon Fair's 4-H Goat Show. He bested an entry by Brenda Winters of Newmanstown who exhibited a yearling. Blouch's champion was milking.

The young man also picked up champion showmanship and fitting honors in the show, as did Miss Winters. Runner-up honors in those division went to Randy Blouch and Sue Heilinger. Miss Heilinger hails from Newmanstown.

Three classes of competition were represented at this year's show. In the kids class, that is those goats under 6 months of age, Patti Heilinger of Newmanstown showed the top entry. Runner-up was Randy Blouch of Lebanon.

The yearling class was won by Miss Winters, with an entry by Patti Heilinger coming in seond. Brian Blouch's champion doe was followed in the judge's eye by one of Sue Holliger's animals.

Lebanon 4-H Holstein show results posted

LEBANON — Kirby Horst had a dream come true when he won the championship title of the Lebanon Fair's annual 4-H Holstein show. His winning entry was an aged cow named Ed-Min Sparky-red, a daughter of C Romandale Shalimar Magnet, which stood as both senior and grand champion. Winning the contest here, which was held on Tuesday, is an accomplishment which had eluded the young Labanon County dairyman for years. He won it twice this year, however, taking the senior and grand championship honors in the FFA show as well. The winning cow in that contest was a 6-year old daughter of Penn-Gate Reflection Admiral. For details of the FFA Holstein show, please see a separate story elsewhere in this issue. Horst is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Horst of Newmanstown.

The reserve senior and reserve grand champion banners were won by Michael Bare, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hershey Bare, Lebanon, whose 3-year old daughter of Valley-Pond Astrocount stood first in her class and went on to win the runner-up honors.

A Glenafton Rag Apple Hagen daughter brought into the ring by Nelson Bomgardner of Ono captured the judge's eye for junior champion distinction. A senior yearling, the junior champion is named Loving Meadows Hagen Molly. Daryl Balmer of Lebanon had the reserve junior champion, a junior yearling sired by Life-O-Riley Marquis King.

Placings of the show follow:

Junior Calf - 1. Robert Bare, Lebanon; 2. David Sonnen, Richland; 3. Kristen Arnold, Lebanon; 4. David Bomgardner, Ono; 5. Dale Weaver, Myerstown; 6. Kirby Horst.

Intermediate Calf - 1. Gregory Lentz, Lebanon; 2 Michael Kunkle, Jonestown; 3. Jonathan Sonnen, Richland; 4. Wesley Harding, Jr., Lebanon; 5. Jane Bomgardner, Annville; 6. Art Sweinhart, Fredericksburg.

Sheep producers urged to vote 'yes'

PARK RIDGE, Ill. – Sheep producers are being urged by the American Farm Bureau Federation to cast an affirmative vote in a referendum August 21 to September 1 that will determine if a national lamb and wool promotion program is to be continued.

Richard W. Owens, AFBF secretary and chief administrator, said the AFBF Board of Directors took action to support passage of the referendum after reviewing AFBF policy and a recommendation by its sheep advisory committee.

Owens said the $2,200,000 (fiscal year 1978-79) promotion program will be handled by the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., established under the National Wool Act of 1954.

ASPC, headquartered in Denver, is financed by deductions from producer incentive payments. If approved in the referendum, deductions will be increased from one and one-half cents per pound on shorn wool to two and one-half cents. Deductions for unshorn lambs will be increased to twelve and one-half cents per hundredweight from seven and one-half cents.

The referendum will be run by county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service which will distribute information and ballots to sheep producers in mid-August. Anyone who owned sheep six months old or older for at least 30 consecutive days during 1977 can vote.

Owens added that sheep producers have approved the ASPC wool and lamb promotion in six referendums since 1954.

Public warned against buying mail-order health products

LEMOYNE – If you are thinking of buying a health product by mail from a magazine ad, think twice. Chances are it won't work as advertised.

That's the conclusion of a study by the Pennsylvania Medical Society Committee on Quackery which screened 500 nationally circulated magazines.

Under federal law, the Postal Service has the authority to stop delivery of mail to a false advertiser. Criminal proceedings can also be instituted, but they are used mainly for severe or repeated offenders.

As of July 1978, postal authorities had taken action against half the sellers identified in the Pennsylvania Medical Society survey. "Our study and ad collection have been given to the Postal Inspector for further action," Dr. Barrett said.

For more information on questionable health aids, the Pennsylvania Medical Society suggests reading- The Health Robbers – How to Protect Your Money and Your Life published by George F. Stickley Company, 210 W. Washington Square, Philadelphia, Pa. 19106.

There's more in a name than meets the eye

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Scratch Ankle, Alabama; Cut and Shoot, Texas; Peculiar, Missouri; not everyday names for a hometown, but in the United States, such names are not all that unusual. As the U.S. was settled, most geographical names were chosen informally and on the spur of the moment, reports the current issue of National Wildlife magazine. Behind each of the three million geographical names in the U.S. lies a little part of the nation's history.

European explorers, upon their arrival in the New World, adopted (or adapted) a wide assortment of Indian names. Thus, the Indian word "Mesconsing" (meaning "the long river"), became "Ouisconsing" for French explorers Marquette and Joliet. Years later, it became "Wisconsin."

The National Wildlife Federation publication notes that while the early British colonists named most of their coastal settlements after their hometowns (Roxbury, Plymouth, Dorchester), this trend ended after the Revolutionary War, as communities were named for war heroes. Today, there are over 250 American towns named "Washington," reports the magazine.

Some of the nation's most imaginative names are a result of the 19th century frontier days. Cut and Shoot, Texas, was named after a community shootout over the shape of a new church steeple, explains National Wildlife, and Scratch Ankle, Alabama, was nmaed because of the town's large population of biting flies. Settlers also favored animal names, especially birds. The eagle surpasses all other species as a place name source, followed closely by the swan, the goose and the duck.

With the rapid christening of towns, rivers, mountains, and the like, problems were bound to arise–duplication, confusion, misspellings. To deal with these, the U.S Board of Geographical Names was formed in 1884. The Board soon established one ironclad rule: Whenever there is a conflict, the local name and spelling win out.

Today, the Board is still hard at work. Each year it reviews some 10,000 new names and suggested changes. In recent years for example the Board has allowed the residents of "Mole Hill", West Virginia to change their town's name to "Mountain."

Currently, the Board is involved in the controversy over a suggested name change for Alaska's Mount McKinley. Many would like to rename the mountain "Dinali", its original, centuries-old Indian name.

What about Peculiar, Missouri? National Wildlife magazine explains that a store owner, applying for a postal listing under the name "Excelsior," was turned down because the title was already claimed in Missouri. So the store owner wrote saying that any name would do, as long as it was "different or peculiar". The rest is history.

Stoner, Brymesser win plowing contest

CARLISLE – Stanley Brymesser, Boiling Springs R2; and Jay Stoner, Mechanicsburg, were named county winners at the 1978 Cumberland County Plowing Contest last week. Stanley Brymesser placed first in Large Plow Division. James Jones, Mechanicsburg placed second. Sheldon Brymesser, Boiling Springs R2 placed third and William McCulloch, Shippensburg R6, placed fourth. Stanley won using a 4030 John Deere and a John Deere Plow with 4-16 inch bottoms.

Jay Stoner placed first in the Small Plow Division. Larry Souder, Mechanicsburg R2, placesd second. Paul Hoch, Shippensburg R1, placed third and Stephen Brymesser, Boiling Springs R2 placed fourth. Jay used a Allis Chalmers WD Tractor with a Oliver plow with two 14 inch bottoms.

The Cumberland County Plowing was held on the farm of Lee Morrison, Carlisle R1, as part of the Cumberland County Field Day.

The Cumberland County Ag Field Day was held at an adjoining farm belonging to Galen Byers, Carlisle. Area farmers who attended had an opportunity to watch demonstrations of sod seeding equipment and inspect the chemical weed control plot in corn. Aerial application of insecticide and cover crop planting was also highlighted at the field day.

It was pointed out the seeding of rye in standing silage corn by helicopter now, may provide enough pasture this Fall and next Spring to pay for the entire seeding.

In addition to the pasturing potential, the rye cover crop provides erosion protection this winter as well as a mulch for next year's corn crop.

Arrangements for the helicopter seeding are now being made through the Extension Service Office. One can contact them if interested in the aerial seeding of rye.

Baltimore Farm Credit Banks will relocate

BALTIMORE, Md. – The Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore will be relocating to a site north of the Hunt Valley area within 18-20 months, announced Gene L. Swackhamer, president of the Banks.

The new bank will be built on a recently purchased 120 acre tract located west of York Road, approximately one mile north of Shawan Road.

Swackhamer said the decision to move from the present building at 24th and St. Paul Streets, which it owns and has occupied since the 1920's, was made after a detailed examination of future needs and the adequacy of the present building to meet those needs. Factors such as cost of maintenance, renovation and growing requirements for space, and compliance with changing building codes were considered in the decision.

The Hunt Valley location was chosen, according to Swackhamer, "because it offers us the advantages of a rural setting, which is consistent with our business and preserves the central location convenience to our District."

Maryland Properties, Inc. has been selected as the designer/builder, with Gaudreau, Inc. designated as the project architects.

Swackhamer reported that although construction plans are not complete, the building is expected to be low-rise – probably not more than two stories – requiring approximately 60,000-70,000 sq. ft. He said construction should begin in late 1978 or early 1979, and will require 15-18 months for completion.

The Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore, a brrower/owned cooperative, comprised of the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Baltimore and the Baltimore Bank for Cooperatives, currently employ 128 people.

These Banks are lending in excess of $1.5 billion to rural homeowners, farmers, and their cooperatives in the States of Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and Puerto Rico.

522 million bushels in grain reserve

WASHINGTON, D.C. – There were 551,939,561 bushels of feed grain and wheat in the grain reserve as of July 14, according to Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Service. As of that date, the reserve held 25,643,049 bushels of barley, 114,074,413 bushels of corn, 28,622,913 bushels of oats, 16,565,727 bushels of sorghum (9,276,807 hundredweight), and 367,033,459 bushels of wheat.

The figures cited by administrator Fitzgerald were based on a telephone survey by ASCS.

The grain reserve takes wheat and other grains off the market for a period of up to three years, or until market prices reach stated levels.

At the same time Fitzgerald announced the telephone survey results, ASCS released its regular weekly price support load activity report. The report includes figures on grains in the farmer-owned reserve and other data. The data in the weekly report lags behind the figures reported today by the administrator because of the time taken to mail the data for the weekly report to Kansas City for processing.

More information on the regular weekly report by state and by farm and warehouse storage is available in the north lobby of USDA's Kansas City Commodity office, 2400 West 75th St., Prairie Village, Kan., and the Protection Adjustment division in USDA's South building here.

Youth attends national institute

BOZEMAN, Montana – Janet R. Latshaw, Spring City, attended the National Institute on Cooperative Education, at Montana State University, July 31 to August 3 with about 700 other young people coming from all over the nation.

Nationally known speakers discussed specific solutions for farmer cooperatives around the 1978 theme, "Cooperatives - People With a Purpose." NICE, the largest annual gathering of agricultural and cooperative leaders in the United States in sponsored by the American Institute of Cooperation, a national educational organization for farmer cooperatives, headquartered in Washington, D.C.

The young people (ages 14 to 19 years) called Youth Scholars, participated in special sessions pertaining to cooperative fundamentals, as well as the general sessions where speakers discussed current challenges cooperatives face in a swiftly changing economy and environment. In addition to cooperative managers, directors, and employees, the NICE participants included special groups of young farmer couples, youth scholars, women, and employees of cooperatives and collegiate students.

Most of these Youth Scholars had won competitions - speaking or essay contests, special quizzes, or exhibited special leadership qualities that have made them eligible to attend NICE. Pa. Assoc. of Farmer Cooperatives selected Janet because of the leadership she demonstrated at the Pa. Assoc. of Farmer Cooperatives Summer Institute held July 9-12 at Shippensburg State College. Janet is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Latshaw.

Janet also won honorable mention in the AIC poster contest. She is a member of the Tri-Community 4-H Club of Chester County.

Sale of Champions

Miss Hukill and her brother James, 16, also won champion pen honors.

The Hukill sheep enterprise, although quite successful, involves only a few sheep and a very small space. The family lives in a rural development, Pinewater Farm, which was a commercial farm until its owner decided to grow houses instead of crops. The original barn and some open space still remain in the development so the Hukills rent barn space and 1½ acres of pasture for their flock.

Miss Hukill, who has enrolled in a wide range of 4-H projects including woodworking and automotive safety, graduated from St. Andrews School new Middletown, Del. and plans to attend Clemson University in South Carolina this Fall.

Sarah Hukill, an 18-year-old 4-H member from Harbeson showed this 98-pound Polled Dorset lamb as the champion market lamb. It was purchased in the Sale of Champions by Acme Markets, Inc., represented here by George McMillan, director of Meat Procurement. The selling price was $4.00 per pound. Miss Hukill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hukill. She has been a 4-H member for eight years and has raised and exhibited sheep for six years.

The reserve champion lamb, 126 pound Hampshire, also grew up in a rented barn. Schubert, who is in his first year of 4-H, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Schubert and lives in a suburban area in New Castle County. His lamb was kept at the 4-H barn–a site made available to nonfarm 4-H members in the county who want to raise livestock. The project, supervised by the New Castle County Cooperative Extension Service involved 26 4-H members members and 14 lambs and 20 pigs this year.

Schubert's lamb brought a total of $309. The buyer, Robert F. Rider, who is president of the Delaware State Fair, Inc., said he wasn't sure what he would do with the lamb but that he had no plans to slaughter it. Schubert is a member of the Hill and Dale 4-H Club.

The reserve champion market lamb in the Junior Sheep Show at the Delaware State Fair was shown by Eddie Schubert, a 10-year-old Wilmington, Del. 4-H member. The 126-pound Hampshire lamb sold for $2.45 per pound and was purchased by Robert F. Rider of Bridgeville, Del., president of The Delaware State Fair, Inc. The first year 4-H member is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Schubert.

The champion market hog was raised by another nonfarm 4-H member enrolled in his first year of livestock projects. Skaggs' only other livestock experience was in this year's Junior Broiler competition where he finished 23rd. He raised two Yorkshire gilts. One was the Junior Market Champion and the other placed fifth in the 4-H feeder hog round-up, also held during the State Fair. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Skaggs, Jr., he is a member of the Friendship 4-H Club.

The exhibitor of the reserve champion market hog was the only participant in the Sale of Champions who can claim a farm background. Her parents operate a commercial swine business in Sussex County. Miss Majchrzak, a five-year member of the Sandy Fields 4-H Club is enrolled in several 4-H projects in addition to her swine enterprise, including clothing, money management, rabbits, and horses. Her gilt sold for $519.

A highlight of the Sale of Champions was the appearance of the 1978 National Pork Queen Tammy Moerer. The 20-year-old Johnson, Nebraska farm girl has been traveling throughout the country touting the merits of pork. Whenever she can, she talks about the variety of pork cuts available to the consumer and the variety of ways to prepare pork.

Miss Moerer's travel expenses were paid by the National Pork Producers Council, sponsor of the Pork Queen Contest. This organization is the official voice of the nation's hog producers.

Farm storage loan activity increases

WASHINGTON – The U.S. Department of Agriculture's loan program to help farmers build on-farm storage is running more than double that in any full year since the program began in 1949, Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland said last week.

The amount loaned in the first nine months of fiscal year 1978 equals over one-third of the amount loaned during the first 29 years of the program, Bergland said.

The $419.7 million loaned to farmers from October 1977 through June 1978 was used to build 47,975 new storage facilities with a storage capacity of 491.2 million bushels. In all fiscal year 1977, producers took out 25,705 loans for $156.9 million and storage capacity of 220.1 million bushels.

Since the program began, over $1.5 billion has been loaned to farmers to build over 3 billion bushels of on-farm storage. As of June 1978, outstanding loans totaled $601.9 million compared with $140.2 million outstanding in June 1977. Most loans now outstanding were made in the last eighteen months.

Liberalization of farm facility loan provisions since Spring 1977 has stimulated this increase in program activity and has helped achieve the goals of the farmer - owned grain reserve program, according to Bergland. The Secretary encouraged farmers to continue to make use of the program as a valuable means of increasing their marketing flexibility.

Uder the program, eligible producers may borrow up to 85 percent of the cost of buying and installing storage facilities and drying equipment. The loan limit is $50,000. The most recent program change authorized loans for structures to store high-moisture forage and silage and for remodeling existing storage facilities to increase capacity or efficiency.

The program is administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service through its county offices.

Grain storage program modified

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Agriculture has changed its formula for determining eligibility of farmers to continue earning storage on any commodity in a "release status" from the farmer-owned grain reserve program, according to Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

Release from the grain reserve is authorized when the national average market price for feed grains is at least 125 per cent of the current national loan rate and at least 140 per cent for wheat. In this case, the grain is said to be in "release status."

Under previous rules, if the national average market price for a commodity stayed above the release level through the following month, storage earning stopped for all producers storing their commodity in the grain reserve.

Under the new formula, a crop's national loan rate will be subtracted from its release level and the difference added to each state loan rate. If the resulting figure is greater than the published USDA mid-month report of "prices received by farmers, by state," storage earnings will continue for farmers in that state. This will allow all the commodity in the reserve to be in a "release status" but farmers in states where prices are low will continue to earn storage payments.

The commodity will remain in a release status in all states if the national average price is above the national release price.

The wide range in prices received by farmers in different areas of the country can create inequities to farmers participating in the reserve program, Fitzgerald said. Very high prices in one area, as evidenced by June barley prices, can trigger release from the reserve on a national basis while prices in another area are substantially below the release level.

On July 5, USDA announced that the release level had been reached for barley in the grain reserve, enabling farmers to redeem their barley from the reserve and to sell or store it as they wish. If the average barley price continues above the release level as of July 31, USDA will keep the release authorization in effect, but farmers in some states may continue earning storage payments.

Hendrix donates to 4-H and FFA

WESTMINSTER, Md. — Furman E. Hendrix, Inc. of White Hall, Md., manufacturer of Mopro Liquid Protein feeds; purchased the reserve champion crossbred steer at the Carroll County 4-H and FFA Fair Livestock Sale, here, Friday, August 4th. Hendrix, Inc. then donated the steer to the Livestock Club with the money from the resale of the steer going to the 4-H and FFA Fair.

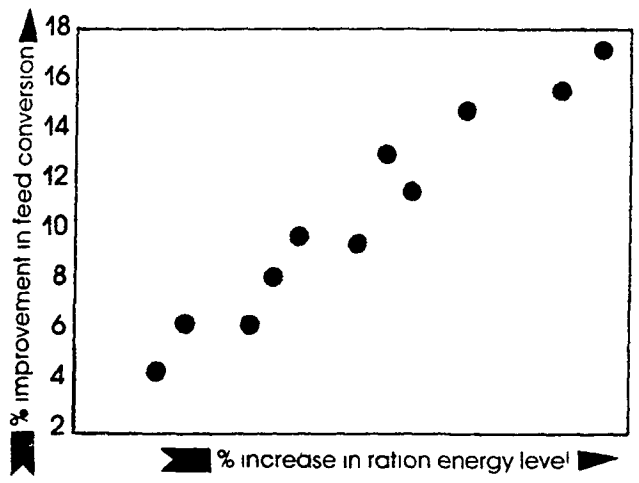
What Universities say about High Energy Rations

Today more than ten years after Purina began it's first high energy work, universities are beginning to confirm the performance gains from high energy hog rations. They're asking questions and trying to determine how performance is affected by increasing energy levels. They want to know why daily gains increase and what causes feed conversions to improve.

Here are four universities that have done research in this area and a summary of their data

School	Year of Study
Kansas State University	1976
University of Kentucky	1977
University of Nebraska	1977
Texas Tech	1975



These independent university findings show how an increase in the energy level of a ration will result in a correlated improvement in feed conversions. This is the same basic finding made by Purina Research in 1971.

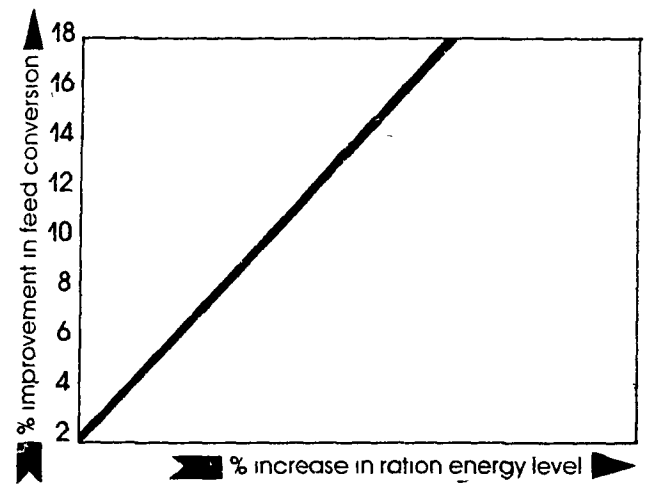
The important fact is high energy rations can help improve feed conversions for increased production performance That type of performance can help improve your operation's efficiency and increase your income potential

SEE FOR YOURSELF HOW HIGH OCTANE CAN PENCIL OUT IN YOUR OPERATION

Purina High Octane rations are research tested and proven

Purina researchers began investigating high energy hog rations in 1970 They wanted to pack more nutrients into every pound of ration to increase performance

Here is a summary of Purina research showing the extra performance advantage high energy rations provide.



The graph shows how increasing the energy level in a ration will result in a correlated improvement of feed conversions. This is the same finding now being substantiated by independent university research.

After continued research, Purina introduced High Octane Hog Chow rations in 1973. These new, high energy rations provided the extra vitamins, minerals and balanced amino acids needed for increased daily gains and improved feed conversions.

High energy research is continuing at Purina and new High Octane rations are being added to the product line each year. These are the basic advantages High Octane rations can put to work for you.

- Quicker starts
- At least a 5% increase in daily gains
- A 12% or better feed conversion compared to conventional rations
- Market weights as much as 2 weeks sooner

High Octane® Hog Chow rations make it happen

And it happens like this: A grower/finisher in Ohio dropped his feed conversion to 3.22 lbs. feed/lb. gained instead of 3.50; decreased his time needed for 176 lbs. of gain from 131 days to 116; increased his income per pig by $3.47.¹

Results like that aren't unusual for High Octane users. They get a modern high energy feed that's combined with high nutrient density and balanced amino acids. Your hogs will show you the difference in looks, in gains and investment returns

Grow more pounds of pork every year

Most hog producers look at their growing/finishing unit like a factory. Feeder pigs in one end, market hogs out the other Turnover of inventory (hogs) is important.

High Octane rations can help make your turnover time quicker. So you can grow more pounds of pork per year.

Check an example: A building capacity of 300 head; a corn-soy ration giving a 1 42 lbs./day average gain A set-up like that can add 175 lbs of gain to each hog in 123 days. The operation will turn its inventory 2.97 times per year producing 890 market hogs for a total output of 155,750 lbs of pork produced

Now take the same 300 head building and use High Octane Hog Chow rations Your daily gain could be 1 57 lbs /head/day ¹ Putting on 175 lbs. of gain will only take 111 days. Inventory will turnover 3 29 times producing 987 market hogs for a total output of 172,725 lbs of pork produced.

That's an increase of 16,975 lbs annually just from getting the increased daily gains High Octane rations can provide
